NEW OIL SAND IS REPORTED IN SOUTH ARCHER COUNTY; EUROPEAN SITUATION REGARDED EXTREMELY CRITICAL; MARTIAL LAW HAS BEEN AUTHORIZED IN WEST VIRGINIA

ARCHER COUNTY HAS OIL PROSPECTS IN SOUTHERN PORTION

SUN WELL, BELOW ARCHER CITY, REPORTED STANDING IN OIL.

STALEY WELL NOW REPORTED AS POSSIBLE 1000-BARRELER

Showing Up For Biggest in New Field Two Good Wells in Old Texhoma District.

Archer county made another bid for the limelight Saturday when it was learned that the Sun company's well 12 miles south of Archer City was standing several hundred feet in oil, having picked up a good sand at about 1,500 feet.

Eight-inch casing is now being run, preparatory to drilling in. The well, which is on the Farmer tract, is many miles from production, and if it proves a paying producer will still further stimulate operations in the county to the southward.

Late reports from the Staley well in the new Archer field indicate it to be better than the 400 or 500 barrels at first reported, and there were some estimates of 1,000 barrels. Scouts who viewed the well declare it showed up equally as well as some of the early big ones in the Waggoner pool. It marks an important extension westward in the Texhoma pool, and adds another to the so-far-unbroken list of successful tests that followed the bringing in of Texhoma No 1 Gose.

In the old Texhoma field, south of Turkburnett, the well of the Jones Oil and Gas company on the Rexford, which came in a gasser, has been drilled deeper and is now making around 200 barrels. The same company is rigging up for its No. 4 on the same lease.

The Texhoma's No. 24 Cropper is swabbing 250 barrels from a sand at 1,376 feet. The Sinclair's No. 2 Cropper is being rigged up. The Stumff Oil and Gas company's well on the W. T. Cropper has resumed drilling around 600 feet.

At Electra the Hobbs Oil company is testing a sand found at 1,605 feet on the Burnett. L. C. Heydrick et al. No 4 Waggoner is swabbing 45 barrels from a sand at 949 feet; they are 20 feet in the sand.

The Gulf has made location on land of Mrs. Grace Jennings, south of Electra, and will start drilling at once.

The Lambert-Tolliver well on the W. T. Waggoner ranch has picked up a sand at 1,445 feet and 6⅝-inch casing is now being run to test the same.

On the Augsperger lease, 10 miles north of Electra, the well of the Wichita-Electra Trust company is drilling at 639 feet.

FEAR THAT TROUBLE IS BREWING FOR THE ELECTION IN IRELAND

BELFAST, IRELAND, May 14—Three riots between nationalists and unionists this morning have given rise to the fear here that with the rising tide of political feeling serious trouble may be brewing for the election.

This morning, a nationalist crowd invaded the unionist area in York street and threw stones. A fierce fight soon was in progress but the police quelled it. Two hours later the trouble was revived. Revolvers were used, but without serious results.

The third disturbance occurred afterwards as ship yard workers were proceeding to the yards on the Antrim side of the Lagan river. A gang of armed men attacked them with revolvers and stones. The police promptly intervened.

CONFEREES ON THE EMERGENCY TARIFF ACCOMPLISH LITTLE

WASHINGTON, May 14.—House and senate conferees made little progress today in efforts to adjust differences in the emergency tariff bill. A two-hour session, while understood to have developed no bitter fight, did not result in agreement on any of the differences.

The chief opposition offered by house conferees was to the senate provision continuing war-time control over importations of dyestuffs. Senator Penrose, republican, Pennsylvania, chairman of the conference stated. He said also that the house members were not satisfied with the anti-dumping section of the bill as rewritten by the senate.

The bill as passed by the senate would authorize the secretary of the treasury to apply the anti-dumping provisions only where the need is apparent, while the house provision would compel customs officers to make a complete investigation into every kind of merchandise received from abroad to determine whether its shipment here constituted dumping.

Mr. Penrose said he did not believe differences existed between the house and senate members of the conference and expressed the opinion that an agreement would be reached early next week. Another attempt to adjust the differences will be made Tuesday.

DECLARES SECRET SENATE SESSIONS A RELIC OF ANTIQUITY

WASHINGTON, May 14—Secret senate sessions were attacked as a "relic of antiquity" today by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, in calling up his resolution proposing the consideration of treaties and nominations in open session.

"Open sessions of the senate in the consideration of nominations for high offices will injure no one and secret sessions may wrong many," he said.

The senate referred the resolution to the rules committee, which Senator Harrison said meant its death.

Want to Declare A Fuel Blockade Against England

LONDON, May 14.—British labor leaders today called upon the workers of Continental Europe to declare a fuel blockade against England.

PEACE RESOLUTION IS ON THE PROGRAM FOR COMING WEEK

KNOX PROPOSAL OR SIMILAR ONE EXPECTED TO BE BEFORE THE HOUSE.

REPUBLICANS WAIT FOR MOST OPPORTUNE TIME

Committee Said to Favor the Porter Resolutions Covering the Situation.

WASHINGTON, May 14—The Knox peace resolution, or one similar to it, may be considered in the house the latter part of next week, although it is more probable that action will be deferred until the international situation is further clarified. Representative Mondell, republican leader, declared today. Passage of a resolution ending the technical state of war is certain, he said, adding that republicans in the house see no need for haste, were simply waiting for "the most opportune time" to take action.

Agreement of Germany to indemnity terms in Mr Mondell's opinion has simplified matters to a large extent, but has in no way made it imperative that house action on the peace resolution be rushed.

Before the matter can be considered on the floor, the foreign affairs committee will have to determine whether the Knox proposal or those introduced by Representative Porter, Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, should be taken up. A majority of the committee are said to favor as a substitute for the Knox resolution the two Porter measures, one merely declaring war with Germany ended and the other making a similar declaration regarding Austria, without repealing the declarations of war against those two powers, as provided in the Knox draft.

MAY ORGANIZE JAPANESE AND CHINESE WORKERS

CINCINNATI, May 14—Approval of a proposal to organize Japanese and Chinese workers on the Pacific coast and western states are withheld here today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Recommendations that steps be taken to unionize the eastern workers in the west have been before the council for some time it was said, and plans are now being worked out to meet the situation.

Labor officials said that the council could not give its approval to this organization work until it had made an investigation and decided that the proposed plans "would meet this grave situation."

The United Mine Workers and some of the international unions, it was said, are already taking in Chinese and Japanese members.

FRANCE THREATENS GERMANY IF TROOPS ATTACK THE POLES

PREMIER BRIAND ADMITS A DISAGREEMENT AMONG THE ALLIES.

SAYS U. S. RETURNS TO THE SUPREME COUNCIL

Her Voice Will be Heard and Ideas Received With the Greatest Favor.

RETURNS TO COUNCIL WITHOUT RESERVATION

PARIS, May 14—Premier Briand was asked today regarding possible mediation by the United States in the controversy in Upper Silesia.

"The United States," he replied, "has returned without reserve to the supreme council. Her voice may be heard, and her ideas will be received with the greatest favor."

France virtually threatened today to punish Germany if the latter attacks Polish insurgents in Upper Silesia.

Premier Briand, replying to Premier Lloyd George's speech in the house of commons yesterday evening, declared that if Germany sends troops into Upper Silesia "France could not remain disinterested."

Lloyd George had stated flatly that Germany would be justified under the terms of the treaty of Versailles in using her military to defend her rights in the disputed territory, and said that Great Britain would insist on "fair play."

Briand admitted that the allies are in disagreement regarding the Upper Silesian situation and neutral observers in Paris and London regarded the opposing declarations of the British and French governments as further widening the breach.

According to Paris advices, Briand's statement came as a distinct shock, despite the fact that something of that nature had been anticipated as a sequel to Lloyd George's speech.

A United Press dispatch from Paris early today quoted an attache of the French office as saying that if Germany sent troops into Upper Silesia French office as saying that if Germain neutral"—practically a paraphrase of Briand's later words.

CRISIS MOST SERIOUS TO DEVELOP SINCE THE WAR

By J. W. T. MASON
Written for the United Press

NEW YORK, May 14—Germany's long awaited opportunity to recover her strength while the allies dispute among themselves has been brought close to the point of realization by Premier Briand's answer today to the practical ultimatum aimed at France yesterday by Lloyd George. Briand refuses to desert Poland, and he makes by implication a threat of retaliation if Germany follows Lloyd George's advice and attacks the Poles.

The crisis is by far the most serious that has threatened the stability of European relations since the war. Premier Briand's attitude appreciably increases the danger of an Anglo-French break, and of a French army marching into Germany over a British protest.

France has now been maneuvered into a position where her entire foreign policy of self-protection, carefully built up since the war, is at stake. If France deserts Poland at this critical time, the Poles will have every reason for rejecting further French advance at Warsaw.

The initiative has now passed to Germany. If the Germans believe Lloyd George can save the Ruhr from a French invasion, Germany will drive the Poles from Silesia. Once this is done, an entire change in the European balance of power will be the outcome.

GUN BATTLE STAGED AT PORT ARTHUR IN THE MARINE STRIKE

BEAUMONT, TEXAS, May 14.—Three persons were shot and seriously wounded tonight in a riot incident to the seamen's strike at Port Arthur, according to a telephone message at midnight tonight. Harvey Patillo, a special officer, and two sailors whose names were not given, were shot in a duel in the dark.

The officers had been assigned to guard the offices of the McFadden Iron Works because of trouble early in the day between G. R. Canada of the McFadden company and a number of men, who charged the place as a reprisal following a fight Friday night. Union officials deny responsibility for the trouble. Police are rounding up those participating in tonight's shooting.

Reports to the warden's office here show that of the 40 who escaped, 23 have been captured, two surrendered and two have been killed.

With the situation thus well in hand, prison officials were beginning their investigation into the causes of the mutiny and the events at the prison when the men made their getaway Thursday morning.

RINGLEADERS OF MUTINY ARE CAPTURED ON SATURDAY

HUNTSVILLE, TEXAS, May 14—Ringleaders of the state penitentiary mutiny in which 40 convicts escaped Thursday were captured in the woods 14 miles west of here about 6 o'clock this morning, according to Capt Jake Herring, chairman of the prison commission.

The men taken included G. R. Anderson, Harris county, 25 years; Louis Dodd, Burnett county, 99 years; C. C. Mims, Eastland county, 10 years; Arthur Spraggins, Bexar county, J. A. Stewart, Tarrant county, 10 years, and H. L. Watson, Ellis and Denton counties, four years.

They were captured by three guards without a fight. They had been sleeping in the woods when bloodhounds led the guards to their hiding place.

Anderson, Dodd and Watson, considered the most desperate of all the characters who escaped, and who declared they would never be taken alive, had guns, but, according to Herring, did not try to use them.

GOVERNOR NEFF EXPECTED TO MAKE INVESTIGATION

AUSTIN, May 14—It is probable Governor Neff will go to Huntsville as soon as opportunity affords and personally investigate Thursday's mutiny among convicts, it was learned today.

Under the new order requests for troops after having been examined by the war department officials, Mr Weeks said, will be passed on to the corps commander for investigation. Should the corps commander find that conditions warrant the use of federal troops, he has the authority, Mr Weeks said, to issue the orders necessary to meet the requests.

SAN ANTONIO, May 14—Use of military force to prevent disorders at Galveston and Texas City and for the protection of government property during the seamen's strike will not be necessary, it is believed by civil authorities at the two cities, according to a telegram received at the eighth corps area headquarters this afternoon from Colonel W. FRANCE IN FAVOR OF ENFORCING PENALTIES FIRST AGREED UPON

PARIS, May 14—In a statement today the semi-official Havas agency says there is reason to believe that the French government has informed the British government that France is in favor of maintaining the penalties against Germany adopted after the London conference in March when the Germans refused to accept the Paris terms of the allies including the occupation of the customs line on the Rhine and the occupation of Duesseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort.

The statement was brought out by a report through Berlin that the British government was favorable to a modification of the penalties in question.

WAR SECRETARY IS PREPARED TO ACT IN MINE BATTLE AREA

PROCLAMATION FOR MARTIAL LAW ALREADY SIGNED BY PRESIDENT.

STATE TROOPS ARE SENT AND ACTION IS WITHHELD

Authority Covers Two States But Will Only Be Enforced in the Strike District.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., May 14—Governor E. F. Morgan this afternoon made his third urgent appeal to the war department to send federal troops into Mingo county.

WASHINGTON, May 14—A proclamation declaring martial law throughout Kentucky and West Virginia, because of the strike warfare, was prepared by President Harding late today but its promulgation was withheld pending receipt of further information from the strike area.

After it had been decided to issue such a proclamation, the war department received a message from Governor Morrow of Kentucky saying that state troops had been sent into the strike district. It was after receipt of this message that the administration decided to withhold federal action.

The proclamation, however, was signed by the president, who empowered Secretary Weeks of the war department to promulgate it should later information indicate that it was necessary.

As a precautionary measure the proclamation was drawn to cover all of the two states, although it was explained that in its enforcement the privilege given the military authorities under martial law, of course, would be exercised only in the strike areas.

REPORT CONCERTED ATTACK MADE ON TOWN OF MATEWAN

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., May 14—The heaviest fighting of the three day mine workers' war in Mingo county broke out at noon today.

A concerted attack on Matewan opened shortly after the general battle was resumed. Fighting in the streets there was reported.

Fighting factions hidden in the West Virginia and Kentucky hills let loose repeated volleys. Blackberry City, Alburn, Gates, Spriggs, New Howard and Merrimac were subjected to hot fusillades.

Captain J. R. Brockus, with a detachment of state police, commandeered a special train and started for the Tug river valley section.

Destination of the special train bearing state police was kept secret. Belief here was the train would run the gauntlet of fire to New Howard in an attempt to effect rescues there. New Howard was reported under particularly heavy fire. Every house in the colony was reported bullet riddled.

A large force of men descended from the Kentucky mountains and opened fire on Merrimac at close range. The attackers were reported ready to cross the river into West Virginia.

Outbreak Follows Long Lull.

The renewed outbreak followed a long lull in the mountain war between union miners who have been locked out for a year, and strikebreakers. Sharp fighting came at dawn along the twelve mile battle zone, but a respite followed which lasted until ammunition supplies were hustled forward and the guerilla warfare started with renewed fury at noon.

Women and children hemmed in when the skirmish started Thursday morning have been rescued by state police. They reached Iaeger early yesterday after being without food or water since taking refuge from the snipers' fire which had made slaves of their homes in the valley between the West Virginia and Kentucky mountains.

Bodies of the five reported dead and many wounded have not been recovered. They are in the open between the two warring camps.

Women and children who had huddled in a mine mouth near Alburn without food or water since Thursday reached here early today. They were rescued under cover of darkness by a detachment of state police.

The body of an unidentified victim was found today near Spriggs on the Kentucky side of the river.

Drag Themselves to Safety.

An unconfirmed report here was that Charles Stafford and Carl Butcher, believed killed at Merrimac, had only been wounded, and managed to drag themselves clear of the fighting in the dark last night.

The bodies of Dan Whitt, C. W. Smith or Gossin and other dead and wounded were still lying on the ground in the battle zone shortly before noon. They could not be rescued, however, because of the spasmodic shooting which has continued since the battle opened Thursday morning.

Feeling in Matewan was especially tense. Sid Hatfield, former Matewan police chief, and principal figure in the Felts detective murder trial, was reported to have attacked J. P. Smith, superintendent of the Stony Mountain Coal company.

An unconfirmed report that four men had been killed near Alburn while crossing a field under the impression a truce had been agreed to caused renewed agitation.

Deputy Sheriff Dorsey Chaffin returned here late today from Matewan. He reported that all was especially tense.

There was no confirmation late today of a report that a man had been killed in New Howard.

The whole district is being raked with [illegible] and there had

REPUBLICANS PLAN TO ELIMINATE MUCH OF NEGRO INFLUENCE

SOUTHERN DELEGATE PROBLEM TO COME BEFORE NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

PARTICIPATION TO BE CONFINED TO VOTERS

Opposition to Program Expected to Develop From Among the Old Guard.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post and The Wichita Daily Times
(Copyright 1921 by The New York Evening Post)

WASHINGTON May 14—At the coming meeting of the republican national committee, in preparation for which conferenc are now under way there will be just two important items of business One will be the selection of a new chairman to succeed Will Hays The new chairman undoubtedly will be ex-Congressman John Adams of Iowa That part of the business will be quickly out of the way But thereafter will come a detail of reorganization which is right now the cause of tense controversy The proposal, in short is to change the entire basis of the republican party in the south Those who want to do away with the ancient scandal of the 'southern delegate' propose that hereafter the republican party shall rest upon the same basis in the south as the democratic party does

In the southern states large numbers of negroes are prevented from voting by state laws which have been held to be constitutional by the supreme court of the United States At present the bulk of the republican party in the south is made up of these disfranchised negroes The new proposal is that the republican party shall recognize state laws in the south and everywhere else the same as democrats do The suggested rule is that hereafter no person can be a delegate to a republican national convention or take part in a republican primary or in a republican local convention unless he is a qualified voter of the state in which he lives and has voted in that state The practical working out of this rule would make the republican party in the south a white mans party to practically the same extent that the democratic party is Opposed by Two Groups.

The suggested rule is opposed by two groups in the republican party which compose a curious combination of principle and politics One large section of the republican party in the north thinks the party should continue to stand as it always has stood since the Civil war—the friend and protector of the negro To those are joined a group of old time republican leaders of the hard boiled type who have been doing business with typical southern delegates in every republican national convention for a generation or more They do not want to abandon the system

It is not merely that they are anxious to maintain an institution which in the past has frequently been an occasion of corruption It is rather out of a feeling of personal loyalty that they do not want to throw overboard old friends whose political capital and standing in life rests upon the fungus republican party of the south

The more forward looking republican leaders who want to adopt the new rule say the negro in the south has not been helped but has been harmed by being used as political capital by white leaders of dubious standing who trade with them as pawns in national conventions They say the experiment of trying to force local southern communities to permit negroes to vote against the will of the white communists has gone on for nearly sixty years and has never been successful, but has always made mischief

Politician Worst Handicap.

The only sound way for the southern negro to become a voter is to so impress his character on his white neighbors that they are willing to give him the franchise That process is going on all the time and the number of negroes who have the franchise constantly increases The position of the negro in the south as elsewhere becomes better every year and his worst handicap is the so-called white friend who uses him as a political pawn

The innovation of doing away with the southern delegate' scandal and making the republican party in the south a white mans party, the same as the democratic party will probably succeed There is little doubt that President Harding favors it It is to be observed that his is the first republican administration since the Civil war which has not thrust colored postmasters and other colored office holders on white communities who resent them In addition to President Harding, so many other forces are behind the proposed innovation that it will probably succeed

Divorce Suit Is Reported in Hands Of Mrs. Stillman

NEW YORK May 14—Disposition of the Stillman divorce suit rests wholly in the hands of Mrs 'Fifi' Tutter Stillman it may be stated on the highest authority

Bearing out reports circulated yesterday that James A Stillman former president of the National City bank, was seeking to withdraw from the case the following facts developed today

Representatives of Stillman, it is said have made overtures for a settlement outside of court

The negotiations have not yet proceeded to a point where definite alimony figures have been discussed

Mrs Stillman feeling that she holds virtually all the cards, is showing no indications of a willingness to accede to her husband s overtures

She has made as an absolute basis for any negotiations admission of the legitimacy of the two year old Guy Stillman and repudiation of charges of intimacy with Fred Beauvais, the French Canadian guide

Friends of Mrs Stillman reiterated today that yesterday's postponement of a resumption of the "secret" hearings from May 19 to May 25 would be followed by successive adjournments until a settlement was effected.

REWARD OF $1000 FOR MURDER OF JUDGE DEVEREAUX

TULSA, OKLA, May 14—A reward of $1 000 for the 'murderer or murderers" of Judge John Devereaux has been offered by the Tulsa county bar association A committee of five, appointed by the association has entered the field and is conducting an investigation.

Although police officers today were inclined toward the theory that Judge John Devereaux, aged jurist who died under mysterious circumstances here Wednesday night, sustained the blow on the head falling against a radiator in his room at a local hotel, county investigators were refusing to depart from the theory of slugging and poisoning

In continuing his investigation in this direction, the county attorney points out that when Mrs Jessie James was first arrested she said the condition of the jurist was not discovered until after 10 o clock at night, while A P Dickson who was held for investigation, said the judge was lying on the floor of his room at 5 o clock in the afternoon when he reached the hotel from his office at the Pan American Refinery here

Because of this vast discrepancy in the stories of the James woman and Dickson the county is delving into byways and corners hoping to uncover additional clews although it is said no new developments are expected until the two women—Goldie Gordon and Mrs James—are given preliminary hearings Monday

At the office of the prosecuting attorney today it was said every effort will be made to have the women held without bond, for a higher court

This city expectantly awaits the preliminary hearings when the James woman has threatened to tell the "whole story" that will bring the right guy into custody

WILL RECEIVE $5,000 IN SETTLEMENT OF HER CLAIM

TULSA OKLA, May 14—Mrs Jesse James held here with her pal, Goldie Gordon (Mrs Houston Callan), in connection with the death of Judge John Devereaux is soon to receive $5 000 in settlement of her claim against the estate of Tom Jones Choctaw Indian filed in the Grayson county, Texas courts according to a local trust company retained by the woman to look after her interests

The claim was lodged by Mrs James on behalf of Callie Margaret Jones pupil in a Tulsa convent whom she claims is the daughter of the Indian with whom she lived a number of years as a common law wife according to her attorneys

Tom Jones was found dead on the sidewalk in front of the ten-story Campbell building Oklahoma City, early one morning in 1913

Jones was a patient in a sanitarium and jumped out of a window The coroner s verdict was suicide

JAPANESE CONTEMPLATE AN INTERNATIONAL PORT IN PROVINCE OF SHANTUNG

WASHINGTON May 14—Establishment of an international port at Tsing-Tau is contemplated by the Japanese government as soon as it can induce the government of China to undertake negotiations for the relinquishment of Japanese control over the entire province of Shantung it was explained today in Japanese quarters here

Internationalization of the port is insisted upon by Japan it was explained because the maintaining of a distinctively Japanese settlement at Tsing-Tau might invite demands from the other maritime powers for similar concessions It was said that it would be impossible to assign separate quarters in Tsing Tau to the half-dozen maritime powers corresponding to their holdings in such open ports as Shanghai for instance for the reason that the port of Tsing-Tau is entirely to small to admit of such compounds

THOUSANDS OF JEWS POURING INTO TRIEST EN ROUTE TO PALESTINE

HIGH SCHOOL FACES ORATORY BARRAGE

Three Speaking and Debating Contests Are to be Held During Week.

Another barrage of oratory is scheduled to be laid down at the local high school this week in three separate bombardments with the Rotary Club declamation and debate prizes and the J Wilkie Talbert extemperaneous speaking medal as the objectives of the attacks The preliminaries of the Rotary contest are to be held Monday night the Talbert speech fest Thursday and the finals for the Rotary prizes Saturday

The Rotary club prizes will be competed for by both senior and junior boys from the local county and rural schools, while the J Wilkie Talbert medal is to be contested for only by the boys of the Wichita Falls high school

Preliminaries in the declamation and debate have already been held in the county and rural schools and the winners of these events will compete next Saturday with local students who are successful in Monday's trials It is expected that there will be at least ten contestants in each of the declamation divisions, while the debating event will also probably have a large representation

In the junior declamation division, Sam Basham representing the boys and Marjorie Simmonds, representing the girls will be this city's entries in the finals these two having won out in the preliminaries held last Friday night.

Cash prizes are being offered by the local Rotary club for the best declaimers and debaters in the county, the present amount being approximately $275 A total of $500 was set aside at first, but awards made to winners in the county preliminaries have reduced this amount

The Talbert medal is being offered by J Wilkie Talbert local real estate man to the best extemporaneous speaker among the boys of the high school and some fifteen aspirants have indicated their intention of competing on Thursday No subjects are to be announced to the speakers until ten minutes before they are called to appear and then only five minutes will be allotted them in which to cover their subject The only hint given as to what the topics will embrace has been that they will be chosen from something with which every high school boy should be familiar

All three contests will be held in the high school auditorium, and in addition to the main speeches music by the high school orchestra will be furnished during the evenings

MANY TEXAS MAYORS TO ATTEND MEETING OF MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

A large number of Texas mayors will be in Wichita Falls next month to discuss a large number of municipal problems, according to information from headquarters of the League of Texas Municipalities. The annual meeting of the league will be held in Wichita Falls June 21 and 22. An announcement from the league headquarters at Austin says:

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the program for the meeting of mayors and other city officials to be held at Wichita Falls June 21 and 22. That the program might be well balanced and helpful as possible, a referendum was obtained from the mayors of the various cities and towns as to suggestions for topics of interest for the program and statement of the important municipal problems. Many of the city heads have replied with indications of their choice of topics and interesting comments on local conditions.

Among the most popular topics suggested for discussion at the convention are regulation and ownership of public utilities, particularly with reference to water and light plants; problems of sanitation, enforcement of ordinance regulating the use of automobile cut-outs, parking, street improvement and bond issues for that purpose, mosquito eradication, conducting cities as business concerns, and many other pressing issues.

A number of the city officials, it is stated, have expressed their interest in the work the league is doing and have also indicated their intention of attending the convention. From their replies it would seem that all sections of the state will be represented.

The program as planned will be devoted about equally to formal lectures by experts on various phases of city government and informal talks among city officials. Opportunity for round table discussion and exchange of personal experience will be given.

ANNOUNCE $200 REDUCTION IN PRICE OF HUPMOBILES, WILL CURTAIL PRODUCTION

Announcement was made late Saturday afternoon by Eckman & Von Allmen, local distributors of the Hupmobile and Peerless machines that effective at once a $200 reduction in the price of Hupmobile models was to be made.

This cut is the second of the week and the fourth in the last two weeks which has affected a popular make of car. The Jordan and Marmon machines were cut substantially in price two weeks ago, and in addition to the Hupp, the Oakland car was cut last week.

In announcing their reduction in price the Hupmobile company has also made known its decision to curtail production about 12 per cent, this being found necessary to carry out the general retrenchment policy of the company.

POLICEMAN RIDES IN AUTOMOBILE, CITY MUST PAY OWNER $5

Justice of the Peace J. F. Maxwell holds that when a policeman makes an arrest and rides to the city hall in the arrested person's automobile that the city must pay for the use of the car. He awarded a judgment against the city for $5 in favor of R. S. Ragsdale of Burkburnett.

It appears that Ragsdale parked his automobile in violation to a city ordinance some few months ago and the arresting officer rode to the city hall in Ragsdale's car. The latter pleaded guilty to the charge and then filed a civil action against the city in the justice court.

The plaintiff contended that the city had used his car and that he was entitled to pay. Judge Maxwell thought so, too, and awarded him a judgment of $5.

The strange thing about it is that the city will have to pay it as the case can not be appealed, the law holding that no case which involves less than $20 can be taken to a higher court.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Mack Taylor and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

RECORD RUN MADE ON IOWA PARK ROAD PAVING WORK FRIDAY

A record run unexcelled thus far was made Friday by Potts & Prentice, road contractors on the Iowa Park road work when 1,028 lineal feet of concrete was laid. The record up until that time was 1,016 feet, made two weeks ago.

The run for the week ending Thursday night amounted to 5,509 feet, according to figures from the contractors' offices. At that time a total of seven and a half miles of road had been paved and sufficient amount of material was on hand Saturday evening to lay another half mile.

Your Future and Our Future

You often say of a man, "The more I know him, the better I like him." Of course as you come to know him better you learn his faults and failings as well as his virtues and achievements; you discover his little human weakness and his splendid manly qualities; but you get to UNDERSTAND him—and you like him. You figure that, after all, he's a whole lot like yourself, with about the same up-hill and down-dale to go in life, and you know that he needs your friendship and that you want his.

Well, it's the same way with a business—especially a business that has direct dealings with you. An electric light company is not a piece of machinery, it's a human aggregation, with just as keen and fine an aspiration to get on in the world as any individual. It has to work for its living the same as anybody. It has to earn the money with which to pay its bills and maintain its credit, and make enough so it can "save up a penny for the rainy day." It has to plan for its FUTURE the same as anyone else. It has the same problems as the rest of us to face, only, perhaps, on a larger scale. Every red blooded company like every red blooded man, wants to stand four-square with the world.

It is FRIENDSHIP and GOOD WILL that counts in the business world today. The Wichita Falls Electric Company wants YOUR friendship. We believe that our future and your future are identical. The continued growth and prosperity of the Wichita Falls Electric Company and the community which it serves are interdependent. We want you to know us better and we believe that when you do, when you comprehend some of our problems, when you consider some of our achievements, when you realize some of the splendid possibilities before us, you will be as enthusiastic as we are about our mutual future. Let it be a bright one.

LAWYERS' FINDING ON SUNDAY MOVIES TO STAND FOR 5 YEARS

FULTON WANTS THEATER MEN TO AGREE TO ABIDE BY COMMITTEE DECISION.

WILL BE NO EFFORT TO OPEN SHOWS TODAY

Further "Blue Sunday" Plans Will Depend Upon Developments During Week.

Whether Wichita Falls is to have Sunday movies will depend upon developments this week. Today promises to be pretty much the same old Sunday, with nothing closed that isn't usually closed, and without movies.

During this week County Attorney Fulton will proceed in accordance with the terms of the agreement he made Saturday morning with a group of citizens, and will submit the question of Sunday movies to a committee of attorneys chosen by himself.

Before he does so he will submit to the movie proprietors an agreement binding them to abide by the decision of the lawyers' committee for a term of five years, regardless of whether the decision is favorable or unfavorable to Sunday movies. In the event the state law is amended in the meantime, the agreement would not apply.

It was not known Saturday night whether movie proprietors would agree to this plan, but it was the belief that they would do so

Mr. Fulton has not yet named the attorneys' committee, but will do so after the movie managers agree to observe the decision for five years. Mr. Fulton made it plain Saturday that he would endeavor to choose an unbiased trio of lawyers

This committee's function will be to decide upon the wisdom of permitting Sunday movies. No question of construction of the law will be considered, as the Sunday law has already been construed by the higher courts

Sheriff Smith announced Saturday that he expected to "clamp the lid on" next Sunday It is understood, however, that if the movies are permitted to open that will be the end of the "blue Sunday" plans Just what will happen next Sunday, if the movies do not open, is difficult to conjecture, in view of the announcement of County Attorney Fulton that he will not accept complaints of violations by places that have been kept open in the past.

Ford Explains Attitude.

H S. Ford on Saturday issued the following statement

"So much has been said recently about the moving picture shows, and so many rumors have gained circulation as to my attitude and as to statements coming from me, most of all of which was entirely without foundation, that I thought it proper to make this statement with respect to Sunday movies and with reference to my position on the matter

"I have heard of many things that I was supposed to have said, and many things that I proposed to do, that were as new to me as to anyone to whom such rumors were repeated.

"I am now and have always been perfectly willing to abide by the judgment of the people of our wonderful city upon this question, that the sentiment in this city is for clean Sunday moving picture shows, I have no doubt I do not believe that they are a detriment to the city or its welfare. On the contrary, I firmly believe that they will result in good and will be a great factor in the further upbuilding of Wichita Falls

"I know that my judgment in this matter is in harmony with the ideas of the overwhelming majority of the business men of this city, with the views of those whose efforts, thoughts, time and money have made Wichita Falls the great city that she is

"I do not like for the business in which I am engaged to be discriminated against. We all ask to be measured by the same yardstick that is applied to others. We do not approve the rule that makes fish of some and fowl of others. A fair deal is all we ask or have ever asked.

"Again, I want to make it plain that I am not responsible for any rumors such as we have heard in the last few days. I hope to have the privilege of correcting those kind of statements before being condemned for something which I never said or even thought of saying

"The larger cities of Texas, like Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, San Antonio, Houston and El Paso, have their Sunday moving pictures and are supported by the wishes and sentiment of these cities We have the same sentiment here and I am trying to conform to the desires and wishes of our people.

"Concluding, I wish to say that I have no personal feelings against anyone because of this matter; in fact, it is not a personal matter with me. With those who do not agree with us, I have no word of censure and I ask the same feeling from you.

(Signed) "H. S. FORD."

SUB-COMMITTEE ON COUNTY ROADS HAS SESSION SATURDAY

The sub-committee of the highways bureau of the chamber of commerce Saturday went over completed portions of the Iowa Park road, inspected some samples of the road that had been removed, and heard from County Engineer J. M. Isbell.

The sub-committee decided to make some stringent recommendations to the bureau as a whole, and the matter will probably be brought before the chamber of commerce directors before any action is taken.

Mrs. J E Briggs of 1508 Polk street brought home a much prized trophy from the state meeting of Pythian Sisters at Fort Worth last week, winning the Everett-Sneed medal for highest proficiency in the secret work of the order. The prize is competed for each year, and may be retained by anyone winning it for three successive years. This is Mrs Briggs' first year.

Mrs Briggs made a score of 94, four points being deducted for her failure to place her hand exactly over her heart at a point in the work where such a gesture is prescribed. The next highest score was 86 High officers of the sisterhood said Mrs. Briggs' presentation of the work was the best they had ever seen.

At their meeting Tuesday night local Pythians will appoint a committee to judge the 50-odd essays submitted by high school children in the "Good Citizenship" contest Some time ago the lodge offered gold, silver and bronze medals for the first, second and third best essays on the theme "Good Citizenship," which had been selected by a committee consisting of Lee Clark, J C. Ward and J P Marrs. The contest will be decided shortly.

O. T. Gorsline, who attended the grand lodge meeting in Fort Worth last week, will give a report of it at Tuesday night's meeting A large class will be initiated into the rank of page.

WHITE POPULATION OF ALASKA HAS DECREASED

WASHINGTON, May 14—The white population of Alaska decreased 23.4 per cent between 1910 and 1920, the census bureau announced today.

Of a total population of 54,889 recorded last year, whites totaled 27,883, compared with 28,400 in 1910.

Indians in Alaska on the basis of the 1920 census numbered 26,421; negroes, 128; Chinese, 56; Japanese, 312, and Filipinos, Hawaiians and Koreans.

SIR CECIL LOWTHER WINS BY VERY NARROW MARGIN

LONDON, May 14—Sir Cecil Lowther, coalition unionist, was elected to the house of commons by the narrow margin of 31 votes in the bi-election in the Petrith constituency. He polled 7,678 votes as against 7,647 for his independant-liberal opponent Levi Collison, it was announced here today.

CHURCH URGES PROHIBITION FOR THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14—Resolutions urging that congress take action to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the Philippine islands and enact legislation to prevent the manufacture and sale of cigarettes in the United States were presented at the quardrennial conference of the United Brethren church here today.

SUGGESTS NEW BASIS FOR NATIONAL TAXES

Would Increase Exemptions on Personal Income and Provide Sales Tax.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—An entirely new basis for levying national taxes, with exemptions on personal incomes substantially raised, was submitted to the senate finance committee today by C. B. Clark of Detroit, who said he spoke for the National Retail Dry Goods association, the National Association of Retail Clothiers, the National Retail Shoe Dealers association and the National Garment Retailers association.

Concretely the plan would divide all incomes into three classes and they, with the aid of the sales tax, would carry practically all the burden. Mr. Clark proposed raising the exemptions on personal incomes from the present $1,000 for single persons to $2,500, and from $2,000 for married persons to $5,000, with an additional $500 exemption for each child or dependent instead of the present $200. The witness also would lower the higher rates on income and surtaxes.

La Follette Asks Pointed Questions In a Resolution

WASHINGTON, May 14—Another resolution aimed at President Harding's appointment of American representatives on allied councils was introduced today by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin. It asked for information regarding the allied invitation and its acceptance and went over for future discussion with the senator's original resolution in criticism of the administration policy.

Information from the state department sought by Senator LaFollette's second resolution included:

"What negotiations, if any, were had with the representatives of foreign nations, individually or collectively, as a basis for the acceptance by the president of the United States of the invitation extended through the British ambassador to appoint representatives of the United States to meet with the supreme council, the conference of ambassadors and reparations commission?

"What instructions, if any, have been given to the representatives of the United States who have been designated by the president to sit with the aforesaid conferences and commissions?"

The resolution also inquired whether Ambassador Harvey was authorized to make his recent statement upon landing at Southampton, that America never "felt so keenly the moral obligations she owes to the mother country."

OUR RE-ENTRY INTO WORLD AFFAIRS.

After a campaign waged on the basis of aloofness from European affairs we find the republican administration executing a face about. It is true that the recent decision to have our representatives sit in the allied councils does not indicate a complete change of front from the policies as laid down by Harding in last fall's campaign, but it does show clearly that the resolution to walk away from Europe has decidedly weakened.

Casting longing glances over the shoulder toward Europe, in the form of taking part in their councils, is the first move toward our re-entry into the world situation. Our lagging, irresolute feet will soon be facing the other way and although there may be a shamed slow movement toward complete participation in the settlements of the war that will come as surely as will tomorrow.

To begin with our position of superior dictator of the world's affairs was an impossible one. To try to be in the world but not of it can never function. We are inextricably mixed up with all that concerns all the world, and if we are a responsible people we must face plain responsibilities.

For over nineteen centuries the ideal of mankind has been Universal Brotherhood. Much progress had been made toward the realization of this ideal. But its greatest opportunity came as the result of the world upheaval in the shape of the European war.

Following the lofty idealism of President Wilson during this struggle it seemed that we had then made great strides toward a fuller realization. After the armistice national jealousy and personal prejudice came forward to delay its progress.

Whether or not the league of nations should have been adopted in toto, the outstanding important point was that we could not entirely leave Europe alone to work out problems which would affect civilization for centuries to come.

Each person who cast his vote for Harding last November must have realized this. Even the group of "bitter-enders" in the senate must have known that this was the case. If they did not the single reason was because they were blinded with passionate prejudice.

So far as can be seen from this distance there has not been the slightest change of international policy since Hughes took Colby's place as secretary of state.

Our active and full participation in the affairs of the world will and must come in some form. It may not come through the means of the league of nations but it will come.

No man can see God in the burning bush as Americans did during the war and then deny the faith that is in him. Such a thing is not done. Our battle flags will be unfurled in

"The Parliament of Man."
"The Federation of the World."

The biggest problem of the present administration is recognize the important role America fills in this great movement and then to accept that rolls and its responsibilities fully.

Why inch in slowly when the water is fine?

AMERICAN OPINION WILL SUPPORT BRITISH PREMIER.

David Lloyd George's denunciation of the Polish government's disclaimer of responsibility for the acts of the Polish insurgents in upper Silesia and his declaration by inference that Germany ought to be allowed to use her forces to repel the aggressions of the Poles will meet with general approval in America.

Poland owes its very existence to the intervention of the allies and to the Versailles treaty. Since the armistice and the signing of the treaty Poland has been sustained and supported by the allies and without their support she must have gone down before the bolsheviki long ago. Once crushed and down-trodden lowly Poland has become ambitious and has seen in the prostrate state of Germany an opportunity for aggression, and even in fields of adventure and aggression where the Polish government could not dare to venture she has willingly witnessed the acts of so-called Polish insurgents.

Division is reported between France and England in this matter. France is reported as not inclined to restrain Poland and as inclined to prevent Germany from using her forces against Polish aggression. The British premier sees the necessity of restoring order in Silesia and counts it an obligation to Germany, since that country has undertaken to fulfill the conditions of the treaty of Versailles, either to allow her to protect herself or to restrain Poland from aggression.

In case of a division between England and France on this subject American opinion would certainly be with England.

GENERAL PERSHING AS CHIEF OF STAFF.

With the appointment of General Pershing as chief of staff of the United States army and Major General James G. Harbord as his executive assistant, the United States will have two real fighting men as the head of its land forces. Pershing, upon his return from France, was given by congress the title of commander of the United States army, but the title and emoluments appeared to be about all there was to the job. This certainly could not have been satisfactory to a man of action like Pershing. In his new position Pershing will have real authority and real work and the army can be expected to get the benefit of his experience and ability.

General Harbord, his executive assistant, is an officer of great ability. He was General Pershing's chief of staff when Pershing was sent to France. He was in command of the Marines at Belleau Wood and was in command of the second division in the attack south of Soissons. He was later in command of the service of supply in France.

The appointment of these two real fighting men by Secretary of War Weeks indicates the practical thought of the secretary and can be expected to mark a return to a "hard boiled" administration of the war department.

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

The action of the county commissioners' court in deciding to call an election to authorize the reissuance of the $1,500,000 road bonds in a new and more saleable form and bearing six per cent interest, The Times believes, is for the best interests of the public.

The bonds in their present form cannot be sold except at a large discount. If the present bond issue is cancelled and new bonds in serial form bearing six per cent interest, they can be sold readily, it is believed, and local banks have expressed a willingness to advance the money for the prosecution of the work in event these bonds are voted being confident that they can be sold.

The proceeds from the sale of the bonds will complete the main highways of the county, including that from the Clay county line to the Wilbarger county line through Wichita Falls, Iowa Park and Electra and from the Archer county line through Wichita Falls and Burkburnett to Red river. The roads are now being built at a cost much less than the estimate and if the bonds are voted, as they ought to be, the main highways can be completed this year.

It is due to the people of the whole county that the roads be completed at the earliest date possible. It is also the obligation of the county to build all the roads embraced in the county road system for which bonds were voted as soon as this can be done. If the present bond issue is not sufficient additional bonds ought to be voted.

HARDING HAS A COLONEL HOUSE.

Taking a leaf out of former President Wilson's note book Harding has completed arrangements for his own Colonel House.

Colonel House was the unofficial adviser of President Wilson and Texans take pride in the fact that he was a mighty good one. Harding has, however, arranged to give his confidential adviser official standing.

For this purpose a commission for the reorganization of the executive branches of the government has been created. This commission will be composed of three senators and three congressmen with the seventh man as chairman and personal representative of the president.

Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, Ohio, has been chosen for this position. Brown is an industrial lawyer whose tendencies are political. His taciturnity is equal to that of his predecessor. His political sagacity is of the same high plane. He should be able to help save Harding from himself, if such a thing is possible.

The immediate task Brown and his commission have is a tremendous one, that of cutting out the red-tape, so notorious in officialdom at Washington.

After that has been done they will endeavor to inject some business efficiency into governmental affairs. But Brown's big job will be to advise the president.

It is a big job, taken all in all, and he deserves much sympathy in advance.

How Unemployment May Be Remedied.
(Houston Post)

The immediate remedy for unemployment in the United States and other nations is greater demand—in other words, greater consumption, first, of the essentials, then the comforts and finally the luxuries. When the demand increases, naturally the production of both raw and finished products will increase, and greater production means less unemployment.

So far as internal conditions affect unemployment in the United States, it is evident enough that it is not so much a question of more money as more for the money. There is a vast underconsumption in the United States, partly because of prices and partly for lack of means.

The cattlemen complain of the prostrate condition of their industry. It is not because there is such a vast surplus of meat, but rather because the average citizen is eating less meat than formerly. And the reduced consumption is not because people have ceased to be fond of meat, but because the retail prices are at such levels, or because unemployment is so widespread, that the meat diet is involuntarily reduced.

The same rule works with many other commodities listed among the necessities. For the same reason, families live amid cramped, inconvenient and rather uncomfortable condition, because the part of their incomes allotted to rent will not procure comfortable homes. It is not uncommon for a city family of five to live in three rooms. The family income simply will not provide the room that is really needed.

Just at this particular season of the year, it is natural for people to want fresh foods, but the fresh foods, produced cheaply enough, command high prices, which heavily tax family incomes. And this is none the less true because packed foods or even fats may be somewhat reduced from winter levels.

It is difficult to recount and appraise all the influences which have to do with unemployment and cost of living, but it is plain enough that no one thing will remedy this condition. But further readjustment of distributive costs will give more power to family income, and expand its usefulness.

The ideal condition is that where everybody is producing abundantly and enjoying an abundance of comforts. Where all are producing there is certain to be an abundance, and when there is an abundance there will be normal consumption if artificial barriers, such as burdensome rentals, price levels and taxes do not come between the ultimate consumer and the markets. Nothing makes for reasonable and stable wage levels so much as an abundance of the essentials and desirables of living and a dollar of normal purchasing power.

The one burden which is not soon to respond to wage and price adjustments is that of taxation, and it is a vital factor in the cost of living that can not be evaded. It is the factor that enforces sacrifice upon all, and the only thing that can ultimately remove the weight of debt the war left upon the people. Directly or indirectly, taxation subtracts heavily from the family income, and will continue so to do for many a year, for the debt will not melt rapidly.

What is most essential is for all classes and groups of citizens to recognize this fact and cooperate in creating the processes of adjustment. It would not be so difficult for the railway managers and workers to segregate the intermediate influences that are making wage adjustments difficult and combat them together. That would likewise make rate adjustments easier, and in turn benefit every business activity in the land, stimulating production and consumption and bringing all the energy of the nation into productive and gainful activity.

Nothing is more certain than that little progress can be made if all operate at cross purposes. If labor pulls away from capital, unemployment will continue; if the distributive forces of the nation absorb too great a share of the proceeds of industry for the service it performs, they will not only oppress the people, but dislocate all the essential industries and render our whole system unstable; if classes, groups or sections ignore the interdependence of all and devote their energy and intelligence to shifting the burden of war from one to the other, there will be little progress toward prosperity.

It is no time for the professional agitator who gains his livelihood by inciting strife. Every citizen should give serious heed to conditions throughout the world and analyze their bearing upon his own wellbeing and his country's dilemma, and then resolve to take a man's part and a patriot's part in establishing civilization upon a basis of enduring stability, justice and peace.

WHY?—

Do some substances explode?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Mention of the word "explosion" usually brings to mind some substance like gunpowder nitroglycerine or T. N. T. generally used for the explosions which are premeditated, and, to a certain degree, controlled by man. But it should be remembered that there are a number of other substances, apparently harmless in themselves, which can explode with terrific effect. Steam, for example, if too closely confined, will burst a boiler and do almost as much damage as a shell. Grain dust, coal dust, or the fine dust suspended in the air of sawmills, is extremely dangerous on account of this tendency, for the generation of heat from some unexpected source may cause it to shatter the elevator or mill which contains it.

There is, however, a difference between what might be called "natural" explosions of this kind and the "artificial" explosions of gunpowder and nitro-glycerine. The first are due to heat which causes a sudden burning of the particles of dust near it and a consequent expansion of the air which almost instantaneously becomes an irresistable force. In the case of gunpowder and allied explosives the result is due to the presence of chemicals which burn with great rapidity without having come in contact with the air, and in burning, these chemicals release large quantities of gas. It is the attempt of this gas to escape from the container which confines it, that caused what we allude to as "explosion"—just as the steam in a boiler is constantly trying to escape, and, unless a safety-valve relieves the pressure, it will eventually shatter even the strongest steel.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

Worry.

The way to worry when you see
That things are not as they should be,
Is just to work with all your might
To make the troubles end all right.

The way to worry is to go
And hustle for the coin you owe—
You'll never get it sitting down
And putting on a gloomy frown.

When you are in the depth of care,
The way to worry then and there
Is just to stir yourself about
And find the means of getting out.

When plans you've made are apt to fail,
It will not help at all to wail;
There's only one thing then to do,
And that's to see the trial through.

All men must worry, but the wise
Express their fear in action's guise;
When worry comes to earnest men,
They win by working harder then.

WILL NEXT GREAT WAR BE FOUGHT IN THE AIR OR UNDER THE SEA?

The questions which are puzzling the naval experts of the world may be answered before midsummer at Hampton roads.

What is to be the fighting craft of the future?

Must the dreadnaughts be scrapped? Have the submarines and the aircraft revolutionized warfare?

Nobody really knows yet. Many opinions have been expressed. For months in Great Britain, where naval matters are of supreme importance and dominant interest with all the people, a controversy has waged in newspapers and magazines as to what should be done with the dreadnaught.

There are those who say that the submarine of the future will be as big and powerful as the dreadnaught of today, able to fight with equal ease and efficiency on the surface or beneath it. Others tell us that ships as big and vastly more dangerous than dreadnaughts will fly in the air.

None of us can contradict these prophets. None of us is in any humor to try to contradict them. The war demonstrated the possibility of so many seemingly impossible things that credulity is now the mark of wisdom when we are talking about what tomorrow may bring forth.

Will "Take to the Woods."

But if these prophets are right; if we are going to see submersible ships as big as the Idaho or New Mexico, and flying monsters rivaling the Pennsylvania or the Arizona, then all I have to say is that if I am alive when such thing come about, I am going to feel like the darky who was in the congregation when the colored preacher discoursed on the two roads.

"I tell you, sinner," shouted the preacher, "there are just two roads to take: One of them leads to hell and damnation and the other to everlasting perdition. Which road will you take?"

"Neither one," cried an excited hear. "Dis-yer nigger am agwine to take to the woods!"

When I discuss the question of the probable fighting craft of the future I do so with reservation. I am aware that there are reservations which destroy and reservations which create. I speak not of the reservations so much discussed in 1920, when the senate was debating the league of nations.

My reservation has indeed to do with a league or an association or an understanding with the other great nations of the world.

"The Best Is Yet To Be."

This applies, however, more to quantity and cost of fighting craft than to type and quality. For we must remember that our generation need hope that the world, and all parts of the world, will become so amenable to reason that it will not be necessary to maintain for some years to come some kind of policeman on the sea. If all the great powers are wise enough to make an agreement which will provide for the effective settlement of disputes by international judgment, there will still be needed a sufficient mobile force to execute the decree and to prevent warlike nations from taking advantage of those which reduce their armament.

You will note I say "our" generation. I am proud to belong to that despised class of people sometimes called idealists and sometimes called fools who believe the dream of a world freed from war and the fear of war will one of these days come true. I know that the militarists think that an idealist and a fool are one and inseparable; but I also know that those who put their trust only in what they can see and touch have always scouted and scorned the faith of those who believe that "the best is yet to be."

My reservation being understood, I return to the discussion of the question with which we began.

Navy on Water or in Air

Are we to look for a navy in the future which will fight in the air rather than on the sea?

A few years ago—indeed until 1914—we thought of a navy in terms of dreadnaughts and cruisers and destroyers and other surface craft. The sailing ship of the line in Nelson's day and the ship of the line in our day prior to the world war differed mainly in that the former used sails and fought at shorter range. It is, of course, true that before 1914 submarines had been built, and some naval experts had regarded them as valuable auxiliaries of a powerful fleet. But the older officer, with few exceptions, looked upon them so purely as auxiliaries that they were treated like red-headed step-children in naval administration.

When I became secretary of the navy there were a lot of young men keen about the possibility of the submarine, but naval officers responsible for operations had given undersea craft no independent organization or direction.

In 1914 a civilian secretary of the navy, out of civilian faith that new agencies ought to be given every chance to demonstrate their value, decreed a separate organization for submarines under the direction of an admiral.

Creation of American Brains.

But none of us even then sensed the tremendous, the almost decisive part, the submarine was to play in the war just ahead of us. We did not know what Germany had up her sleeve. Our foresight did not catch a vision of great undersea ships, able to cruise at long distances, crossing the ocean and sinking vessels in sight of the American coast. Because of this failure it was not until the war was far advanced that the necessary defensive against the U-boat was developed. As the submarine was the creation of American brains, so the antidote of it was conceived in America.

Now, however the argument as to the continuing value of the dreadnaught may end, there can be no doubt that in the next war—if there should be a next war—the submarine will play a most important role. It will be bigger and more powerful, and capable of discharging more torpedoes. But it will never again be the surprise to an unprepared world which it was in this war.

Probably the foremost and most able contender that the day of the dreadnaught is at an end was Admiral Fisher, former first sea lord of Great Britain, who won renown for building the first "all-big-gun" ship, and who was the innovator behind many important developments in the British navy.

"Scrapped All the Dreadnaughts."

Shortly before his death—which occurred only a few months ago—Lord Fisher, who had retired from active service, told the British public, and as much of the world as cared to listen, that the submarine had scrapped all the dreadnaughts, just as the dreadnaughts drove all prior warcraft into the naval discard.

Sir Percy Scott and other retired officers in Great Britain and America agree with the late Lord Fisher. Gen. Mitchell—or "Admiral"—an army officer who essays to qualify as a naval expert has advised congress to spend all the money at its disposal on big fight-ships of the air.

But no responsible naval officers charged with maintaining naval efficiency, have shared these extreme views.

An important question which must be answered before there can be a final settlement of the dispute concerns the probable effectiveness of the airship in attack upon a dreadnaught? What chance has a dreadnaught of being sunk by bombs dropped from above? On this point we have yet no reliable data.

Fail to Sink Battleship.

Last year the navy tried some experiments in order to test the effect of bombs upon a battleship. We used the Indiana, an antiquated craft without value except for some such demonstration purpose. Bombs were dropped upon her from an airplane. They were loaded with high explosives and they did, in some cases, pretty serious damage. But they did not sink her. She took the punishment and remained afloat until other bombs, placed under water, exploded with such force that several seams in the ships bottom were ripped loose.

This, however, was no test of what would actually happen in a fight between an airplane and a dreadnaught. The Indiana was anchored and had no anti-aircraft guns. She made neither an attempt to escape nor to return the fire of her attackers. She merely lay there while aviators circled above her and practiced dropping bombs on her at their leisure.

In actual warfare the dreadnaught would be steaming full speed with probably a zig-zag course. She would be turning antiaircraft guns on the attacking plane. It is open to question whether the bomb dropper would make many hits—or any. Even in the case of the stationary and nonresisting Indiana the percentage of hits was small.

Result May Be Startling.

It is this point of what would happen in actual warfare that will be tried out at Hampton roads sometime before next July. It may prove to be an epoch making event, and Hampton roads may establish certain facts which will revolutionize naval warfare as the fight of the Monitor and the Merrimac on that same stretch of water revolutionized it in 1862.

One of my last acts as secretary of the navy was to direct that certain of the German ships which were turned over to us, and which, under the agreed terms, must be destroyed, should be used in a series of experiments in which airmen should attempt to destroy them.

The secretary of war joined me in asking the joint board of the army and navy to work out plans by which the experiment should be conducted in a way to truly test whether the aeroplane has put the dreadnaught out of business. The plans were perfected, and the test will be made.

When I had given the order for this test, the newspaper men asked me if there would be any sailors on the dreadnaughts when the tests were made. I answered by saying that in a fair test between the surface craft and the aircraft, I would volunteer myself and guarantee to put a crew on board the ship. "I do not think those who fought the bomber would be doomed to destruction," I said. "They at least would have a sporting chance."

Nobody can predict what the ship of tomorrow will be. We cannot foresee the developments of flight or the full possibilities of the submersible. Every new weapon of destruction calls forth its counter-weapon.

Says Wait and See.

My own advice would be—if the advice of an "ex" is ever wanted—"wait until the big experiment is pulled off at Hampton roads before deciding what the ship of the future is to be. And then—in spite of Lord Fisher's cocksureness that the big ship is heading for innocuous desuetude—do not scrap any weapon that sails on the sea, dives under the sea, or flies in the air. All three are saver than the dependance on any one alone.

Having discussed this serious and important problem at some length, let me finish this article by relating two stories told me by Lord Fisher at a banquet which was given in my honor by the Methodists of Great Britain. I have never seen these stories anywhere in print.

King Edward had great fondness for Fisher and promoted him to be first sea lord, the summit of every British naval officer's ambition.

"I had not been first lord long," Fisher said to me at this dinner, "when one day King Edward sent for me. Of course, I appeared promptly, and, after some talk about naval matters, King Edward suddenly said to me:

"'My appointment of you as first lord has brought me more unpopularity than any act of mine since I became king.'"

King "Picks a Winner."

Lord Fisher paused a moment to let me take it in, for he had the talent of an actor as well as of the good story teller. Naturally I wondered what reply a subject could make to his king who seemed to regret an honor he had conferred upon him.

"What answer did you make?" was the natural question from a man who cultivates informing curiosity.

"I didn't hesitate a second and it didn't feaze me in the least. I immediately said to the king:

"Your majesty, I congratulate you upon your wisdom in picking a winner."

We were talking about speeches and some good speeches were made at that dinner. Lord Fisher asked me what was the best speech I had ever heard. That was a poser. I had only that week heard half a dozen of the greatest speakers in Great Britain and had hardly finished applauding a remarkable speech by Fisher. I hesitated. He loved to talk—and how entertaining he was—and he continued:

Best He Ever Heard.

"The best speech I ever heard was made by an American admiral, who as I understand, did not think he could make a speech. I was at Philadelphia at a big dinner, attended by many big men. I was called upon to speak and gave warm praise to the achievements and standing of the American navy, praising its officers in terms they deserved and expressing the sentiment that the navies of the two great English-speaking navies were doing much to strengthen the friendly feeling between the two countries.

"The audience applauded me—and my speech was worth applauding. I can assure you (this with an inimitable smile) and then I sat down. Your Admiral Sampson was the ranking officer of your navy present. He did not rise and evidently did not intend to speak until several naval officers by nudges and suggestions conveyed to him the information that he ought to respond to the speech of the British admiral. Finally he rose, looked about him for a period as if not knowing what to say, and then without preface, Sampson made this brief and brilliant speech:

"'Well, all I have to say is this: It was a damned fine bird that hatched the American eagle.'"

And as he told me this Admiral Fisher's eyes fairly beamed with enthusiasm over what, he repeated, was the best after-dinner speech he had ever heard.

(Another article by former Secretary Daniels will be printed tomorrow.)

NEW ROAD BOND PLAN ENABLES COUNTY TO EFFECT BIG SAVING

ALSO MEANS THAT ROAD BUILDING WILL CONTINUE WITHOUT DELAY.

WICHITAN'S PROPOSITION APPROVED IN ADVANCE

Put Up $25,000 Check as Guarantee of Good Faith—Commissioners Promptly Accept.

If Wichita county's taxpayers vote on June 18 to accept the offer of Wichita Falls banks on the road bonds it means—

That the bonds are sold as soon as they are voted.

That work on the road building program can proceed without interruption, with funds sufficient for construction of 50 to 60 additional miles of road.

That Wichita county will effect a saving, in the end, of $232,500, even though the new bonds carry one per cent more interest.

The offer to the commissioners was submitted by Frank Kell and W. M. McGregor, acting as individuals, but in reality on behalf of local banks.

Immediately after the agreement was drawn it was ordered by the court that an election be held on Saturday, June 18, the same date that the second election on the $75,000 hospital bonds will be held.

The existing $1,500,000 special road bonds bear five per cent interest and are straight term bonds. If the new bonds are not authorized by the voters of the county next month, the old style bonds will remain in force, which will mean a net loss to the county of $232,500.

How Saving Is Made.

Although the new bonds to be voted upon bear one per cent more interest, the saving is effected by them on the maturity. The six per cent serial bonds can be paid off at the rate of one a year which reduces the interest $3,000 annually. The five per cent straight term bonds call for an annual payment of $75,000 in interest, which in the lifetime of the bonds would cost the county $1,637,500. Under the new proposed bonds the total amount of interest to be paid totals $1,395,000.

The agreement entered into between the court and Mr. Kell and Mr. McGregor follows:

"The attorney general's office has informed us that if your court will call an election to authorize an additional $1,500,000 of bonds bearing interest at six per cent per annum and maturing in equal annual installments over a period of from one to thirty years, they will approve such authorization in lieu of the now present $1,500,000 of five per cent bonds already authorized.

"In effect, such an election would mean only the changing of the rate of interest from five to six per cent and this changing of maturities so that the entire issue would mature serially in equal installments of from one to thirty years.

Funds Available Promptly.

"Consequently, we now propose to your court that if you will today call an election in accordance with the orders which we have had prepared in the attorney general's office and attach hereto, we will, in the event such election is carried, pay you par and accrued interest for the said $1,500,000 of six per cent serial bonds of Wichita county, making payments to you at the rate of not to exceed $100,000 for the first five months, $50,000 for the next four months, and not to exceed $60,000 each month thereafter until all of said bonds are paid for; we to supply you with the approved personal indemnity bond for the monthly payments and the unpaid portion; you to deliver to us the entire issue of the $1,500,000 immediately upon the approval of the attorney general and upon approval of the commissioners' court of the indemnity bond supplied by us.

"You agree to supply us with such necessary certified records so as to enable us to present such records to our attorneys for their examination, it being agreed that all proceedings shall be subject to the approval of our attorneys.

"Attached hereto is a check for $25,000 as evidence of good faith in this transaction which may be used as part payment of the purchase price, and is to be returned to us in the event said election fails to carry, it being understood that such check is to be in full settlement of all liquidated damages of every nature arising from the failure on our part to carry out this agreement."

The county voted the special road bonds two years ago and the bonds were authorized as of date of October 10, 1919. Since that time repeated efforts have been made to sell the five per cent bonds, but to no avail. The best offer that has been received recently was at 90, and this was for only a half million.

No Tax Rate Increase.

It was explained by county tax officials that the new bonds if approved by the voters will not raise the tax rate.

The bankers stated Saturday that in the event the new question carries on June 18 that they believe it will be possible to have the first $100,000 payment on hand within ten days afterward.

The monthly payments, as agreed to in the contract will be a sufficient amount to stem the expenditures on the work on the road paving, counting on the state and federal aid which is received in allotments quarterly. A payment is due from the state and county within the next month, and this added to the amount to be furnished monthly by the bankers will enable the contractors as well as subcontractors to keep at work steadily and not cease operations for lack of funds.

Can't Sell Five Per Cents.

"We feel that this is Wichita county's only chance to get good roads without waiting at least two years," said Mr. Kell Saturday, discussing the proposition. "There is no chance at all to sell a five per cent bond before that time, if then.

"If the proposition is voted down, it simply means an indefinite wait before the roads can be built. If it is accepted, it means that the money will be spent at once."

Comment from other Wichitans was that the offer is one that ought to carry unanimously.

"Nothing means more to Wichita county right at this time than the carrying on of the road work," said one Wichitan.

SPUDDERS LOSE FINAL GAME TO BUFFALOES

Salmites Get Away to 4 Run Lead But Lose Out In Tenth Chapter

By PAUL W LARKIN.

Our opponents dallied along more than usual before they put the skids under the Spudders at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. Nearly all the folks present looked for an earlier uprising, judging from the way the boys have been handling the pill lately, but it was not until the tenth period that the grand detonation occurred. At about this time Clarence Darrough, who had been pitching great ball after relieving Kroh in a dangerous situation, decided he was not running true to the Spudder hurlers' form, and he decided to blow up. He never stopped until the Buffs had chased two runs across the plate and won the performance 7 to 5.

The sad story of another Spudder downfall really began in the fifth chapter when "Caddy" Works dropped a couple of thrown balls and got "Rube" Marshall in bad. At the time four Salmite tallies were in and it looked as if the local athletes had a game salted. But one can never tell in this grand and glorious pastime called "baseball"—especially if the Spudders are mixed up in it. In this round two errors by Works, three hits, and the customary pass resulted in five tallies for the visitors, which five put them in a lead that they never lost. The locals tied it once, but never went into the lead again.

Marshall was the first of a trio of pitchers which Skipper Salm found occasion to use. The big comedian started off like a whirlwind and only twelve men faced him during the first four innings. He was yanked in the fifth in favor of Floyd Kroh and "Lefty" found the atmosphere full of little else than Houston bats. He finished the fifth after two were gone, but a couple of terrific singles and a pass chased him in the next. Darrough took up the burden at this juncture and although the corners were overloaded he pitched the club out of the hole without being scored on. From this point until the fatal tenth he worked in championship form, but he spilled the home brew all over the premises in this canto.

Potts Hit Freely.

Potts, a youthful looking left hander, was Manager Whiteman's selection for mound duty and he was hit freely, though he kept his hits well scattered in every inning but the fourth when six in rapid succession netted four markers. The Spudders collected a grand total of fourteen slams, but the majority were wasted.

The fielding thrill of the matinee was furnished by Jake Miller in the fourth inning when he ploughed up a few feet of soft turf with his chin going after Bailey's drive. Although his catch was not made in the manner in which fly balls are usually caught he speared the apple and clung to it.

Tex McDonald walloped the spheroid in the hard luck which has been following him for the past few days. He managed to get in a couple of safe ones, but was robbed of two others. However, Tex got back at his opponents by robbing them of a few down the third base line.

Inability to sacrifice cost the Spudders a run in the opening counter. Rothfuss was winged by Potts for a starter, but Gross bunted into Potts' hands and "Froggy" was forced at second. This proved exceedingly costly as McDonald followed with a hard double to right which sent Gross as far as third. Neither Clark nor Miller could deliver the timely punch.

In the fourth, however, the Spudders gave a great exhibition of hitting. With Rothfuss heading the parade the first six men hit safely. The blow delivered by "Froggy" was good for two bases and the other five were singles. After Works had driven his to left chasing the last two over the span Potts put on the brakes and fanned McElwee and Kitchens while Marshall tapped weakly to him.

Buffs Not Worried.

Nothing daunted by this seemingly great handicap the invaders came back in a hurry and collected five tallies the next time they came to bat. Works started the calamity when he dropped Marshall's toss on Miller's drive. Doyle forced him at second for the first out. Darringer poked a safety to left and Marshall jammed the corners by throwing four wide ones to Blades. Elffert duplicated Bailey's feat of Friday by slamming one inside third for two bases while Doyle and Darringer scored. Potts shot one at Marshall that bounded into Gross' mitts, but the latter got it to Works in plenty of time to get the runner. Once again, however, Works dropped the peg and all hands were safe with Blades over the plate. Potts stole second and Baggan popped to Clark. Bailey came through with another timely punch for the visitors—a single this time—that sent Elffert and Potts home and Marshall to the club house. Kroh took up the burden here and Whiteman popped in Works for the final out.

The Spudders tied it up in their half through the generosity of the visiting hurler. With two away Works drew a pass and McElwee was hit by a pitched ball. Kitchens pounded a single to center that scored Works and put McElwee on third. He stole second unmolested but Kroh's best was a weak putt to Potts.

The boys battled in this deadlock through the next four innings, though each side had plenty of chances to count. The Buffs had their best opportunity in the sixth when two singles and a pass filled the bags but Darrough jumped into the breach and retired the side in order. The Spudders got men on in every inning but one, but could not chase him around.

Whiteman started the uprising in the fourth in the tenth with a hard smash through Gross that almost carried the youngster into left field. One man had been retired at the time. Miller made it two away by grounding to McDonald. Then Darrough thought that his mates might extricate him if he continued to hurl winning ball and he passed Doyle and Darringer. Blades was equal to the occasion and when "Rabbit" finally did locate the plate it never went over it. Blades cracked it on a line to center and two runners counted. Elffert ended the agony by hitting to Works.

The Spudders made a feeble attempt in their allotment of the session when Bischoff hitting for Darrough, singled, but two men had been retired and Rothfuss skied to Baggan.

MORLEY SAYS JEFFERSON IS NOT THE STATE CHAMPION

Albert Morley, Wichita's champion checker player, takes exception to an article recently appearing in the Stamford Leader to the effect that E. P. Jefferson of Stamford has rightly won the checker championship of Texas as he has tied State champion Wolks for several games and has beaten him once."

Morley recently defeated Jefferson here. In six matches played, Morley won five and tied one. Mr. Morley now wants to know "how Jefferson gets off with the champion skip."

Mays Boots One.

Boston critics are commenting on the tendency of the Yankee players to do as they please, despite the cleaning out job that Miller Huggins did last winter. In a recent game staged in the Hub Huggins ordered Mays to pass Hendryx in the ninth inning. Mr Mays decided for himself that he would pitch his own game. He did, Hendryx hit the ball safely and away went the old ball game.

CHAMPIONS OF PACIFIC COAST TO INVADE EAST

The University of California varsity crew, champions of the Pacific coast, out for a spin in preparation for their invasion of the East early in June. The college crews in the regatta at Poughkeepsie and will also race Princeton on Lake Carnegie, Princeton, N. J., next month. Left to right—H. E. Repath, coxswain, A. E. Larson, stroke; F. G. Mehan, No. 7; E. F. Marquadson, No. 6; R. C. Downs, No. 5; T. F. Kamp, No. 4; D. A. McMillan, No. 3; Robert Griffith, No. 2, and J. M. Rogers, bow and captain. On the left is John M. Rogers, captain and bow of the eight. Ben Wallis, coach of the crew, is shown on the right, who will bring his charges east.

Intercollegiate rowing prospects, the brightest of years, will receive added lustre with the eastern invasion of the University of California crew.

It will be the first Pacific coast eight to paddle in eastern waters since the Stanford crew raced at Poughkeepsie in 1915.

California will be a qualified representative of the coast, since she defeated Washington recently by a scant five feet.

According to present plans the Californians will spend about three weeks in the east meeting Princeton on Lake Carnegie June 4 and then competing in the "intercollegiates" at Poughkeepsie June 22.

Some of the wise ones in the east figure they know very little on the coast about the fine points of pulling an oar. But when one remembers the splashing Stanford crew that ran the varnish off the eastern shells in 1915 it can be realized that beautiful form isn't the only requisite.

California Fooled 'Em Once.

'Twas said last fall also that they didn't know anything about football on the coast.

To duplicate on the water, the gridiron triumph of last fall, the California crew will have no easy job against such high class crews as Navy, Syracuse, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Princeton.

The Navy eight, national and Olympic champions and the world's record holders for the Olympic distance will be the favorite in every race the Middies paddle. The two banner events for the future admirals will be the three-cornered meet between Harvard, Princeton and Navy, and the regatta at Poughkeepsie.

Dick Glendon has in his Navy shell seven of the veterans who made such a brilliant record last year. Eddie Graves and Jacomini are gone, but their places have been filled by substitutes who made their jobs uncertain all last winter.

Jim Ten Eyck at Syracuse will have another good crew. He has his star stroke back, Gus Rammi, and several of the veterans who won the intercollegiate championship last year.

Columbia has shown promising form and the Pennsylvania crew has been working smoothly. Cornell has a rowing system that always turns out dangerous crews and Princeton has shown class.

California very likely will find keener competition from the east on water than Ohio State was able to furnish on the gridiron. That is, unless boils pull some of the bigeastern crews out of condition.

EXPORTERS TO CLASH WITH SPUDDERS TODAY

Pat Newman's Crew Opens Three-Day Invasion at Athletic Park.

The "Cuckoos" are coming. Pat Newnam and his fire eating Exporters begin their three-day invasion of our fair city this afternoon at Athletic park at 3 o'clock. Unlike the majority of other clubs which have appeared at the local orchard this season, Beaumont will have several familiar faces in the lineup.

The biggest change of course, is in the leadership. Pat Newnam, one of the scrappiest ball players who ever donned a uniform, has succeeded Joe Mathes as manager of the crew though Joe is still vitally interested in the club. Whenever Newnam's name is mentioned the word "fight" becomes predominant in the mind, as Pat has had as many tilts with opponents and umpires on the diamond as any player in the country. A veteran of many years, Pat can still step in and sock the old apple on the snout, though he has not been playing regularly of late. He is a first baseman, but has been giving Johnston an opportunity to cover the bag while he has guided the club from the bench.

Among the familiar faces on the club will be those of "Cuckoo" DeMaggio, "Cutie" Breaux, Stansbury, Doyle, Alexander and Jacobus. Newnam has a formidable staff of twirlers, who have kept the club up in the first division and who have given every club a battle even in the games they have lost.

Cedric Durst, a high school youngster who has been covering the center pasture for the club, is touted as the league's sensation. He has been hitting like a fiend and his fielding has been way above par. Visiting players who have been here state that he is one of the greatest natural ball players they have ever seen and apparently has no weakness.

MARINES POUND SCOTT FOR AN EASY 7 TO 1 VICTORY

DALLAS, May 14.—Dallas won the final game from Beaumont today, 7 to 1, by hard and consistent hitting. Neither team scored until the fourth when with Miller on second, Scott intentionally passed Galloway to get to Palmer. Palmer responded by driving a home run behind the score board in deep left, scoring three runs. Swartz pitched his best game of the year. Score.

THOUGHT BABE WAS STILL A RESIDENT OF BOSTON

When Babe Ruth was in Boston, not many days ago, he was hauled up on a charge of not having paid his personal tax for two years. Babe had a hard time convincing the tax collector that he hadn't been a resident of Boston since the fall of 1919. It seems the official had never heard of Ruth being sold to New York.

STRONG DELEGATION TO GOLF TOURNAMENT

Local Club Pinning its Hopes to Tom Cochran, Who is Looked Upon As Contender.

A dozen or more local golfers are expecting to go to Dallas next week, when the state tournament will be held at the Dallas Country club, and this city will be well represented in that contest.

Members of the local club are pinning their hopes to Tom Cochran, and believe that the golfer who defeats him will be state champion. The state title is now held by Louis Jacoby of Dallas. Cochran is believed to be the equal of any golfer in Texas, and is expected to give a good account of himself at the state tournament. Others who are planning or hoping to make the Dallas trip are T. F. Adams, H. F. Weldon, Frank Collier, Dud Golding, C. J. Norton, A. R. Cotton, G. F. Reppy and S. L. McDowell.

The last named player, who has been playing only a few months, has developed rapidly into one of the club's leading players, and is looked upon as prospective top-notch tournament material. He is outranked by but few local players. Golding is also expected to be very much in the running, he has driving ability that is exceptional, as was evidenced not long ago when his drive from the No. 7 tee, north from the club house, landed his ball dead to the hole, a little matter of 330 yards.

W. E. Norton, who is second only to Cochran among local players, will probably not be able to make the Dallas trip.

A Lucky Hit.

Talk about lucky hits—peep at this one. In a game between the Giants and Braves this year Burns hit a grounder to Barbare and the Boston man booted it. In his anger he threw his glove at the pill and hit it. The umpire then gave Burns three bases on the hit which had landed him at first base originally. That scored Barnes from first and gave the batter a triple on what should have been an easy out.

SPORT SHOTS by Paul W Larkin

What's the use?

If one man doesn't kick 'em, the other will. If one hurler isn't wild, the other is.

Wonder how they'll fare against the Exporters. Suppose they'll walk away with one game and hand Pat Newman the other one. That's been their custom to date.

We don't think a couple of hours of bunting practice would hurt any man on the club. We've yet to see one who can lay the pill down consistently. They may do it once, but they'll fail the next half dozen times. A failure to bunt yesterday at the right time cost them a run and that run would have won the game in the regulation time.

Potts went up into realms beyond in the third and didn't know what to do with the ball when it came to him. Many a twirler would be in the same fix if the Spudders could lay the ball down. Potts became so excited on Gross' tap that he followed Salm's advice and threw to third. A moment later he didn't even throw Clark's roller.

Well, there's no sense in kicking a dog when he's down. Let's hope and pray for a sudden turn of events.

Probably the most notable defeat of Pat Newman's hectic career on the diamond was the whipping he handed "Muggsy" McGraw several years ago in Houston.

Will somebody please page Abe Bowman's Airedale which answers to the name of "Buster"? Buster was among the missing when the club returned from its road trip and Abe is of the opinion that the hound will chase away the jinx.

Carl Eberhard is with Birmingham. He won a close game from Chattanooga last week, 2 to 1.

It was thought at one time that Gavvy Cravath's major league home-run record of 117 would stand for all time, but that mark is being rapidly approached by Babe Ruth. Babe should surpass it with little difficulty and at least two others seem to have an outside chance. However, nobody but Babe has a chance to better it this year. George Sisler might pass it in time to come and George Kelly should pound out that many before he gets out of the big show.

What's become of the highly touted Torporcer, the Cardinal keystone guardian, who was going to burn up the National league this year? We haven't seen his name in the box score for some time except in the role of a pinch hitter occasionally. Rickey's stunt of putting Hornsby, his $200,000 second-baseman in the outfield did not go a bit well with the St. Louis bugs and Rogers is back at his own position while the bespectacled infielder is warming the bench.

They're now trying to detract from the slugging ability of Ruth and Kelly, especially the former, by claiming the rightfield boundary line at the Polo Grounds (where Babe is supposed to get most of his drives) is only 258 feet from home plate, while in at least one other park in the majors the boundary is 384 feet. However, we note that Babe finds little difficulty in poling 'em out of any lot in which the Yankees happen to be cavorting. Incidentally, Kelly hits to leftfield usually, so what's the alibi there?

OLD NO. 6 HOLE ON GOLF COURSE TO BE LENGTHENED SO AS TO MAKE IT PAR 5

The greens committee of the Golf club is planning to lengthen the distance to the old No. 6 hole, so as to make it a par 5 hole. The present distance is 420 yards, and by putting the tee back to the extreme west line of the grounds and moving the hole to the extreme east line, enough yardage will be added to make the distance slightly over 500 yards, or a par 5. At present the only par 5 hole on the course is the new No. 1, on which the distance is 515 yards.

If "J" Dope Is Correct Frenchman Should Take Title Away From Jack

Study of the names of heavyweight champions dating back to John L. Sullivan reveals a cycle of winners which might be termed "J" champions. In all the names of the simon-pure title holders, except Robert Fitzsimmons, the letter "J" appears. And the unwinding of that letter "J" cycle favors Georges Carpentier to be the next heavyweight champion of the world. Following Paddy Ryan, the letter "J" appears once in John L. Sullivan's name; once in Jake Kilrain's (Kilrain was never champion but he was challenged by Sullivan and lost his fight); twice in James J. Corbett's; Robert Fitzsimmons, the exception to the cycle comes in here; three times in James J. Jeffries; twice in Jack Johnson's, and once each in Jess Willard's and Jack Dempsey's name, thus completing the letter "J" cycle.

Georges Carpentier, with no "J" in his name, is now coming up. Carpentier's name at the end of the cycle of "J" champions checks with the name of Paddy Ryan, which started it off. However, it would hardly be advisable to lay a bet on the strength of this cycle.

A fly leaf from the record book follows:

P. Ryan beat Joe Goss in 87 rounds and claimed the title in a battle at Collier station, W. Va., May 30, 1880.

J. L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan in nine rounds at Mississippi City, Miss., Feb. 7, 1882.

J. Kilrain was challenged by Sullivan and beaten in a 75-round fight at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889.

J. J. Corbett defeated Sullivan in 21 rounds at New Orleans on Sept. 7, 1892. (Robert Fitzsimmons, the exception to the "J" cycle of champions, defeated Corbett March 17, 1897, in 14 rounds at Carson City, Nev.)

J. J. Jeffries beat Fitzsimmons on June 9, 1899, at Coney Island, N. Y., in 11 rounds. (In 1905 Jeffries retired and gave his title to Marvin Hart. By 1908 Jack Johnson, the negro, had climbed on top of the heap in the heavyweight division.)

J. Johnson knocked out Jeffries in 15 rounds July 4, 1910, at Reno, Nev. Jeffries was trying to come back.

J. Willard knocked out Johnson in 26 rounds at Havana, Cuba, April 5, 1915, bringing the title back to the white race.

J. Dempsey won the title from Willard by a knockout in three rounds at Toledo, Ohio, on July 4, 1919.

G. Carpentier? There's no "J" in his name. Yet he fits in at the end of the "J" cycle of champions as Paddy Ryan did at the start of it.

SLUGGING OF SISLER AND HEILMAN FEATURE

Hornsby Pounds Way to Top of National League Sluggers Past Week.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Make way for George Sisler!

That is the warning given the leading batters of the American league by the averages for the past week, including games of Wednesday, for the young first baseman of the St. Louis Browns stepped into a slugging streak which will soon carry him to the top of the list if it is continued.

Harry Heilman of Detroit leads the league with figures released today with the sensational figure of .521, but Sisler sent out thirteen safe hits in six games during the past week and climbed from thirty-fifth place to seventeenth position. The champion batter of 1920 increased his average from .286 to .352, his hits including three doubles, two triples and a home run. In addition he scored ten runs and stole two bases.

Heilman hit in an unprecedented fashion to hold his league leadership, also smashing out thirteen hits in six games, three being doubles and two going for four bases.

Burns of Cleveland is the runner-up to the Detroit slugger with an average of .452, displacing Evans of Cleveland, who was second last week. Evans is batting .417.

The veteran Tris Speaker, manager of the world's champions and Ty Cobb, pilot of the Tigers, give promise of being near the top before long. Speaker with .409 is in fifth place. Babe Ruth follows Tris with .407 and Cobb is next with .388. Wood of Cleveland is fourth with .412.

Babe Ruth, by crashing out four circuit drives, brought his string of homers up to eleven. Harris of Washington continues to set the pace among the base stealers with six.

Other leading batters include Stephenson, Cleveland, .380; Menosky, Boston, .375; Witt, Philadelphia, .373; O'Neill, Cleveland, .363; Gharrity, Washington, .365.

Hornsby Leading National.

Roger Hornsby, the St. Louis star, who last season topped the batters of the National league, has batted his way to the top of the batters in the major circuit. Hornsby boosted his mark from .388 last week to .471.

George Kelly of the New York Giants, who promises to give Babe Ruth of the Yankees a race for home run honors, added one to his total of a week ago, his total now being eight.

Bohne of Cincinnati broke the triple tie for stolen base honors, which he shared with Heathcote of St. Louis and Maranville of Pittsburgh, by stealing three bags. He is showing the way on the paths with seven thefts, while Heathcote is training with six.

Bubbles Hargrave of Cincinnati is trailing Hornsby for batting honors with a mark of .405. Other leading batters: Johnson, Brooklyn, .392; Snyder, New York, .385; Kelly, New York, .371; Tierney, Pittsburgh, .369; Nicholson, Boston, .365; E. Smith, New York, .360; Cutshaw, Pittsburgh, .357; Maranville, Pittsburgh, .356.

Bunny Brief of Kansas City has dethroned his team mate Butler for the batting honors of the American Association. Brief boosted his average to .487 while Butler dropped to .473. Zwilling of Kansas City bagged his sixth homer, but is being pushed by Brief, Miller of St. Paul and Reb Russell of Minneapolis, who have made five apiece.

MAJOR LEAGUE BRIEFS

Three clubs in the American league are willing to take Frank Baker off the hands of New York if the Yankees can't use him. Washington wants him, Connie Mack, it is said, would take him back, and the Chicago White Sox could use him very nicely.

Scott Perry, who has been walking the straight and narrow just as long as he could endure it, fell off the wagon one day last week and Connie Mack suspended him without pay for ten days besides inflicting a fine of $100 on him. It comes high these days, too.

Umpire Bill Brennan missed a third strike on Lee Meadows, the bespectacled Cardinal hurler, the other day. Lee walked up to him, removed his glasses and said, "You need these worse than I do, Bill."

Some deep delver into statistics has figured that Eddie Roush will draw 25 cents for every step he takes in playing the season out for the Cincinnati Reds. That means 80,000 steps in 140 or so games. Some guessing.

QUEEN OF JOHN BULL'S GOLFERS

—By Wood Cowan

LONDON, May 14—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., America's champion woman golfer, now in England as one of the representatives of the United States Golf association to compete for the British Women's championship title at Turnberry, Scotland, on May 30, made her first appearance in English competition recently at Stoke Poges in the annual match between ten of the best women players and ten leading male amateurs. Each woman was allowed half-a-stroke a hole, Miss Stirling was defeated by R. H. de Montmorency while the British woman champion won her match from J. H. Tolley, who beat Robert A. Gardner of Chicago in the final round last year for the British Amateur championship.

An English golfing authority writing in a London daily gives his impression of Miss Stirling's game on her initial appearance abroad and compares her style of play with that of the British champion, Miss Leitch, as follows:

"The real interest was centered in Miss Stirling as the chief representative of the great American golfing public. Her reputation and position in the States is analogous to that of Miss Leitch in this country, both are supreme in their own spheres. Perhaps the gulf between Miss Stirling and her American contemporaries is greater than that between Miss Leitch and Miss Joyce Wethered and Miss Molly Griffiths, to mention only two English lady golfers who are advancing steadily to the standard set by the British lady champion.

Best in America.

"Having seen Miss Stirling play on a course which is not dissimilar to many of the first-class United States inland courses, there can be little question that she is far superior in sheer golfing science to any other American lady who has honored us with her presence. But that does not mean to imply that she is the equal of Miss Cecil Leitch. Frankly, I do not think she is, and for one very simple reason. Miss Stirling lacks the "punch," to use a somewhat indefinite but expressive phrase, that produces length, and which is so characteristic of Miss Leitch's game. I believe that the British lady champion would outdrive her by 10 to 15 yards which makes all the difference in the world when playing a full two-shot hole.

"In the matter of style they are as widely apart as the poles. Certainly they both favor the flat to upright swing but that is the only point of resemblance. Miss Stirling takes the club back slowly, gracefully and rythmically, without the slightest sign of jerk or snatch in the swing. She brings the club down quickly but the pace is not fast enough at the impact. The follow-through is complete with the hands fairly high at the finish.

"Now, Miss Leitch takes the club back dangerously quick and brings it down with the maximum speed, with the result that the head of the club and the ball meet in a resounding crash. With Miss Stirling it is more of a sweep than a blow. In Miss Leitch's case the follow-through is restricted. As regards the grip, an important factor in ladies' golf, where strength of fingers and hands has to be taken into account, the methods of the two champions are quite different. Miss Stirling uses the overlapping grip with the left hand well over the club, while Miss Leitch employs the old Scottish grip with both thumbs round the shaft.

Is Steady and Accurate.

"If there are features of Miss Stirling's play which stand out above everything else they are her steadiness and accuracy. It may be, of course, that she deliberately sacrifices distance to these attributes and on difficult courses, where nature and man's cunning have full sway, this plan may meet with success. To steer clear of sandy wastes, while your more powerful and dashing opponent is getting into them, has won many a championship.

"Probably the shots in which Miss Stirling really excels are the three-quarter iron and mashie strokes. She hits the ball firmly and covers the flag the whole way. Some of these shots were a real joy to watch, because, as a general rule, ladies are woefully inefficient when an iron club is placed in their hands.

"Perhaps it was asking a little too much of her to meet Mr. R. H. de Montmorency, plus three, on a course that he knows upside down. For eight holes and the best part of the ninth Miss Stirling played amazingly well so well in fact, that Mr. Montmorency was fighting with his back to the wall. At this point she was 2 up, and the issue, so far as Mr. Montgomery was concerned was in the gravest doubt. Then came an extraordinary and swift collapse, and Miss Stirling lost six out of the next seven holes, although she was in receipt of a stroke at four of them. The prospect of a keen and desperate finish vanished like snow in sunshine.

"Miss Stirling, who since her arrival in England has been playing a good deal at Hoylake and Turnberry developed a blister on her left hand during the match, which became more painful as the game proceeded. This may have had something to do with her otherwise somewhat startling collapse. Anyhow, she complained of feeling fearfully tired when the game was over.

"Miss Stirling has brought over with her countless dozens of a certain type of recessed-marking ball. To be quite candid, the ball she was using was too heavy for her, although of limit weigth and size, and I agree with Mr. Montmorency that she would have done infinitely better with a lighter ball. Her driving, although straight on the whole, did not altogether impress me for the reason that there was not enough 'carry' in it. The ball flew at too low an altitude, and notwithstanding that she was constantly playing for a hook, there was not enough run on the ball."

THE GREATEST ROUND I EVER SAW.

There was the tenth round of the Ketchell-O'Brien battle wherein Ketchell booted the Philadelphian for a perfect goal, hanging his inert body over the ropes. Some canto is the proper phrase.

There was also the first round of the Leonard-Mitchell affair, where each boxer horned in with a clean knock-down, stirring the multitude to its profound depths.

There was the fourteenth round of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons melee at Carson City (which we never saw), listed among the sensational chapters in the Book of Sock. Ring history is full of great rounds. But the most sensational single round we ever saw was the first round at Toledo between Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard.

THE HURRICANE STANZA.

Willard, then champion, stood 6 feet 6, weighing in at 250 stripped. Dempsey, the challenger, stood 6 feet 1, weighing in at 185 stripped. Willard, six inches taller and sixty-two pounds heavier, was the Giant in battle with the legendary Jack.

Now Willard had never been knocked down in his career, although off and on he had faced such robust punchers as Jack Johnson and Frank Moran. Dempsey's best chance seemed to be his greater speed and alertness that in six or seven rounds might either tire out Willard or befuddle him, provided Willard wasn't lucky enough to drop one of his huge fists on a vital spot.

The round opened with Willard poised as if posing for a moving picture of the slow motion type.

He was almost patronizing in his calm serenity—as Dempsey might be in facing Benny Leonard. For there wasn't as much difference in weight between Dempsey and Leonard as there was between Willard and Dempsey.

THE BIG JOLT.

Dempsey, in place of rushing his stupendous opponent, began to circle him craftily. The champion's upper lip was curled back over his teeth, after the manner of a wolf.

In action he was the panther circling the ox. For the first section of the round there was little action—the purple bronzed challenger weaving his way around the big target, waiting for the first opening.

Then the storm broke. A punch to the stomach, a lightning whip to the jaw and the astonished, thunderstruck Willard dropped to the resin.

It is hard to say which was the more surprised—Willard or the crowd.

The giant, who had never been knocked down in eight years of boxing, had been dropped in fifty seconds by a man sixty-two pounds lighter. Even then few figured that this one blow was any winning factor. Willard would surely get to his feet, clinch, stall and survive the round for another start, savage at the affront offered his vast person. Willard did get to his feet. But also, before he could get set, another murderous welt caught him on the jaw and down he crashed for the second time. And at this point the answer was plainly written that another champion had come to his doom, sooner than any champion in ring history had ever stumbled into defeat.

Seven times in the course of that one round the challenger knocked the champion sprawling. Willard never had any chance to put his attack into motion. That first punch left him dazed, bewildered, befuddled with the bewildered smile of one who is a bit comical in the conk or balmy in the bean.

THE WINNING FACTOR.

Speed plus power had been too much for giant bulk and unusual stamina. The panther had struck and the ox had fallen. The first blast of high explosive had blown away the big turret of the fort.

The wonder is that Willard was able to continue getting up. At his fifth descent into the depths the big crowd, a raving, roaring mass, acclaimed Dempsey champion.

No one thought Willard would ever rise again in time to beat the count. But in some way he struggled up, only to face a salvo of wallops that would have rocked an elephant.

It was no part of a battle. As a fight it was 100 per cent on one side. But as a spectacle it was the greatest single round we ever saw.

SPRING BATTING AVERAGES IN TEXAS LOOP BEGINNING TO TOPPLE—EIBEL LEADING

By WILLIAM B. RUGGLES.

The big drop has already begun in the bloated spring averages of the Texas league hitters, and while 35 rappers are maintaining figures above .300, and while Hack Eibel continues to flaunt as a regular day-to-day performer in the .400 class, the downward tendency is plainly evident. Eibel, Shreveport firstsacker, is batting .434 in 25 games, but no other regular is within 40 points of him.

Through Wednesday's game Sears of Fort Worth had hit safely in 19 consecutive games and had failed to secure a single hit once in the season, that being on April 21, when Roy Mitchell held him hitless.

Three hundred hitters through games of Wednesday, May 11, follow:

Pitching Records Falling.

Few Texas league pitchers are showing ability to get away with consistent success so far. The number winning half or more of their games is now 31, while there are only four undefeated pitchers left, and of those two have been used only as relief men. Knight and Couchman of Galveston have the best winning records. Wachtel has worked in the most games and the most innings.

The terrific spring hitting of the circuit is reflected with reverse English in the earned run averages of the pitchers. Only 22 of the fifty odd hurlers still doing duty show an earned run average in which their opponents have been held to three and one-half runs a game, none too high an average. The average for the league is closer to five runs per game—a bad showing for the heavers. Although Fletcher of Shreveport in 30 innings has allowed on 1.17 to the game, it remains for old Bill Bailey to show the rest how. In 62 innings he has allowed but 1.71 earned runs to the nine-inning affair. The leaders follow:

International Polo Cup Is One of Few In British Hands

LONDON, May 14—Polo used to be considered by the British only as an amusement of the idle rich or pastime for dashing young cavalry officers who had nothing else to do.

But since the American team arrived here to compete for the International Cup in a series of matches starting June 18, at Hurlingham, polo has become a general topic on the streets.

The International Cup is one of the few sport trophies symbolic of world superiority that remains in British hands and the effort of the Americans to take the prize pack will be one of the biggest sporting events of the year.

Every seat of the 10,000 has been sold and the committee is planning now to erect new stands to accommodate those who are willing to pay from $25 to $150 for a seat.

The list of box holders reads like a roll call of British royalty, nobility, army, society and fashion leaders.

The international contests between England and America date back to 1886 when a Hurlingham team, captained by the great Irish sportsman, the late John Watson, visited America to compete for a cup presented by the Westchester club. England won both matches played and returned in triumph with the cup.

Not until 1920 did America challenge but then a scratch team, wholly unrepresentative of America, failed dismally to recover the cup.

In 1902 the American Polo association issued a formal challenge and sent over a team, which, however, was equally unsuccessful.

U. S. Won in 1909.

In 1909 Harry Payne Whitney's "Big Four" gained a sensational victory over the best team England could produce and carried the cup back to the United States.

There it remained until 1914, although in 1911 an English team led by Captain Hardross Lloyd made an unsuccessful invasion and two years later the Duke of Westminster's team also failed.

Just before the outbreak of the war, however, Major Barrett's team, including Major Vivian Lockett, Colonel H. A. Tompkinson the late Captain Leslie Cheake, who was killed in battle, and Lieut. F. M. Freake snatched the spoils for England, thanks largely to the splendid ponies collected and purchased through the generosity of Lord Winborne, ex-Viceroy of Ireland and a noted polo player.

Although the Meadowbrook "Big Four" has disappeared from the game, the British polo authorities took no chances in preparing to defend the cup against America's present combination. The Hurlingham Club, England's governing body for polo, under the presidency of Field Marshal Haig, appointed a special "Defense Committee" under the championship of Major-General John Vaughan, who raised the polo teams of the 7th and 10th Hussars to an extraordinary pitch of efficiency.

This committee set about accumulating the best ponies obtainable from a special fund of 12,000 pound raised for the purchase of desirable animals. The polo enthusiasts of Great Britain and India placed their choicest mounts at the disposal of the committee and the fifty animals thus gathered were sent down to Tidworth, on Salisbury Plains, the cavalry headquarters of the southern command where they have been training all winter under the supervision of the noted horsemaster, Lieut. Col. E. Brown, of the Dragoon Guards.

A. & M. HAS EASY WIN IN CONFERENCE MEET

Sanders Leading Point Winner—Five Former Records Are Smashed.

WACO, TEXAS, May 14.—Texas A. & M walked away with the fastest southwestern conference meet in many years here today, in which five former records were smashed.

Seven colleges entered teams in the meet. A. & M. won six first places and tied for one first place. Their total score was 54. Rice came second with four first places and a tie for first place in the pole vault with a total score of 32. Baylor was third with two firsts and 24 5-6 points, Oklahoma A. & M. with 18 points, Texas university with 17 2-3, Southern Methodist university with 8, and Arkansas university with 4½, completed the list of entries and the winners of points.

The farmers were overwhelming favorites from the start, and although falling down in the hundred and twenty yard high hurdles, when all contestants but Frazier of Baylor disqualified, bettered the odds in their favor by springing several surprises.

Sanders of A. & M. was high point man of the meet, with 11½ points, taking first in the quarter mile and the high jump and earning one-fourth of the winning points in the relay. Lindsey of Rice, and Frazier of Baylor each took two firsts and ran in the relay.

Loop Breaks Two Mile Record.

The two mile race was one of several features, three men—Loop of Texas, Dickerson of Oklahoma, and Keifer of Baylor—battling for first honors through all eight laps. They finished in the order named, all of them breaking the old conference record. The new time set by Loop was 10-6 2-5 seconds.

Dickerson of Oklahoma broke his own record in the mile, when he finished 20 feet ahead of Neely of Texas in four minutes, 28 4-5 seconds.

Sanders of A. & M. upset the dope sheet in the quarter, beating McNatt of Texas by inches, and setting a new record mark of 50 4-5 seconds. McNatt recently defeated Sanders in a dual meet, but was unable to overcome the splendid start made by the plucky little farmer today.

The first three men in the javelin broke the old conference record. Dietrich of A. & M. won with a throw of 179 feet, 6 inches; Mahan of A. & M., expected to win, came second with a toss of 168 feet, while McDonald of Oklahoma, placed third, also went well over the old record mark.

New record time was also hung up in the one mile relay when the A. & M. team finished in 3 26 1-5 seconds. The winning team was composed of Davis, Harris, Weir and Sanders.

Fast time featured the other events, especially the hundred yard dash, the race going 10 1-5 seconds, after each of the three leaders had been penalized for breaking at the start.

RUTH AND KELLY ARE DISTINCTLY OPPOSITE TYPES OF SLUGGERS

Only Thing They Have In Common is Ability to Wallop Ball Over The Fence.

The season's home run monarchs to date—Babe Ruth of the Yankees and George Kelly of the Giants—are distinctly opposite types of hitters. All they have in common is the ability to drag a bat up to the plate and a great yearning to slam the ball to realms beyond.

Both get the leverage of weight and a long reach, but in different ways. Ruth is a left handed slugger; Kelly hits from the other side of the platter. Kelly inclines more to left field hitting and Ruth to right field hitting.

Kelly is a freer hitter than Ruth in the sense that he will hit to all fields oftener than Ruth. He makes some home runs to right, but it is seldom indeed that Ruth hits to left for a homer or otherwise. He jolts' em to center field often, however. Ruth is a freer hitter than Kelly in the sense that he will hit all kinds—high, low, slow, fast, curves—oftener than Kelly.

Kelly is a wrist hitter. Ruth a long powerful swinger with the arms and applied with such intuitive use of the principles of applying power that he gets the benefit of every ounce of his weight—more than any slugger the game has known, he does this.

Kelly Uses Wrists.

Kelly leans well forward and Ruth does not, and Kelly's feet are farther apart. He has an awkward knee action but has an advantage over Ruth in that he can wait until the ball is nearer before starting his swing. He doesn't bring the bat forward from as far back, but whips in savagely with the wrists and thereby, plus excellent timing, gets enormous power.

Ruth's feet are closer together than Kelly's, much closer, with the left foot in advance of the right. His position at the bat is the easier of the two. He holds the bat well, his arms back, with the bat vertical. Kelly has the bat pointing out backward, bat and arms lower. With his wider stance, he doesn't get as long a step forward when about to swing. He is better than Ruth at picking out balls at which to hit. He is more of a "flat-footed" hitter than Ruth. The latter is lighter on his feet.

Still, they both get the results.

THREE CHANGES MADE IN GOLF RULINGS BY WESTERN ASSOCIATION

Stymie Rule Revised and Penalty For Lost Ball and Ball Out of Bounds Reduced.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Directors of the Western Golf association today again revised the much troubled stymie rule and also reduced the penalty for lost ball and ball out of bounds to loss of distance only in both cases.

In the old Scotch rules, the penalty for lost ball in match play was loss of the hole and in medal, scoring loss of the distance and one stroke. Under the rules a ball driven out of bounds brought loss of distance. An American committee sent to Great Britain a year ago obtained a change to make the penalty for lost ball the same in stroke competitions as it had been in match but at the same time the penalty for lost ball was increased to loss of distance and a stroke.

This was too severe in the opinion of many American players and the western association today reduced the punishment to loss of distance only in all cases.

The change consists in giving the owner of the ball nearer the hole the same option as the player whose ball is away.

The directors also accepted with regret the resignation of Crafts Whiggins, assistant secretary who has handled all tournaments and written all the rules of the association for more than 20 years. He has been widely known as "the human rule book" because of his ready knowledge of the law of golf. His successor has not been elected.

DEMOCRATIC WHIP OPPOSES TARIFF ON IMPORTATION OF OIL

REPRESENTATIVE OLDHAM GIVES HIS VIEWS ON THIS QUESTION.

SAID TO COINCIDE WITH OPINION HELD BY KITCHIN

Declares Such a Law Will Not Remedy Situation Confronting Producer.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The proposal of crude oil producers, appearing before the ways and means committee of the house to urge a tariff of $1.50 a barrel on the importation of oil, will have opposition from democratic leaders. This was made plain today when Representative W. A. Oldfield, democratic "whip," issued a statement setting forth his views which, it is known, coincide very closely with those of Representative Claude Kitchin, democratic leaders and ranking minority members of the ways and means committee.

Congressman Oldfield said:

"The great Napoleon said on the morning of the battle of Austerlitz, 'When you see the enemy committing a blunder, do not disturb him.' This is a wise maxim in politics for those who place their party above their country. If I should consult political considerations alone, I should rejoice to see the present congress adopt the proposed tariff of $1.50 a barrel on petroleum—with a compensatory duty of 10 or 12 cents a gallon on gasoline. I have no doubt that such a tariff would be unpopular and would hurt the party in power. But I am convinced that it would also hurt the entire country.

"A tariff on gasoline is a tax on automobiles. It would lay a new burden on each of the eight million automobile owners in the country. Automobiles are no longer a luxury. They have become a necessity. Is this the time to impose new burdens on necessaries?

The young lady across the way says George Washington had no children and she supposes the Washingtons of the present day that claim to be descended from him must really be descendants of his great-grandchildren or something.

Is Tax on Tractors.

"A tariff on gasoline is a tax on tractors. It would impose a burden on each of the 400,000 tractors and on each of the 2,500,000 stationary engines on the farms of this country. Our farmers are resorting more and more to machinery in order to increase their output and diminish the cost of production. A tariff on gasoline will increase the cost of production. It will increase the price of farm products or else add a new burden to the already overburdened farmers. Is this the time to increase the cost of production on the farm?

"A tariff on gasoline is a tax on the source of industrial power. Such a tax is indefensible. It insinuates itself into the cost sheet of every factory. It increases the cost of production in every manufacturing plant in the country. This tax is intended either to increase or to keep up the price of gasoline. This would increase or keep up the price of all other fuels. Whatever increases or sustains the price of one commodity tends to increase the price of its substitutes. Is this the time to increase the cost of manufactured articles?

"Another fundamental objection to a tariff on petroleum is found in the fact it is a natural resource which is both definitely limited and rapidly diminishing. During the calendar year 1920, our production of crude oil exceeded 1,000,000 barrels a day. Our consumption approximated 1,500,000 barrels a day. Production was not equal to consumption. Sooner or later, our supplies will be exhausted. Shall we speed the day of exhaustion by imposing a tariff on imported petroleum? While we import considerable quantities of crude oil, we export large quantities of gasoline. Last year we exported 65,000,000 barrels of refined oils. Mexican oil is of comparatively low grade, but the Mexican field is one of the most productive in the world. It is situated on our border. We ought to regard it as a blessing and not as a curse. Shall we quarantine against this blessing? Shall we treat it as an economic pestilence? What American would like to see this oil field transplanted to Great Britain, France or Italy? What would Great Britain, France or Italy not give for such a fountain of fuel within their limits or upon their borders? Yet we are urged to treat the Mexican oil field as a calamity rather than as a benefaction. Is this the time to accelerate the exhaustion of our own natural resources?

Important Industry.

"Is a tariff on petroleum necessary even from the protectionist point of view? The oil business today is one of the largest industries in America. We produce 65 per cent of the world's output. Much of this exceptional growth has occurred during the last ten years. During this entire time, both petroleum and gasoline have entered the United States duty free. If it did not need protection in its infancy, does it need protection when it has grown to be a giant of industry? This unexampled progress has been due to the enterprise of the men who have devoted their talents and capital to the business, and not to governmental favors. If the business has enjoyed such favors, they are to be found in the depletion clause, in the 20 per cent tax limitation on the profits of sales, and in the immunity of gasoline from taxation—forced into the present law by the senate over the protest of the house. Would the industry be willing to exchange these privileges and immunities in the existing law for tariff protection in the forthcoming law? The threat recently made, that if congress did not vouchsafe tariff protection, the oil men would incite the Mexican government to impose heavier duties on exported oil, would better become a vendetta than a great national industry. The truth is, the oil business is but sharing the depression common to all other industries. It has not suffered more than manufacuring which is protected. Its plight is, of course, to be regretted, but it not to be remedied by shortsighted fiscal policies, nor by the imposition of extraordinary burdens upon the farm and factory or upon the entire industrial life of the nation."

PARRISH DISCUSSES THE URGENT DEMAND FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

DECLARES IT WILL PUT EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT MANAGEMENT.

ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT MEASURES BEFORE CONGRESS

Designed to End Haphazard Manner of Appropriating Funds of the Treasury.

Special to the Times

WASHINGTON May 14—The determination of congress to put a stop to wasteful and uneconomic methods in the appropriation of public funds is responsible for the determination to effect a real budget system This has long been urged both in and out of congress, and was all but accomplished during the last administration when both house and senate passed the bill only to have it vetoed on what was deemed a technicality by former President Wilson

One of the first bills introduced at this session was the one creating a budget system It has now passed the house by a big majority and is expected to pass the senate within the next few weeks

Although not a member of the committee on appropriations there is probably no member from Texas who more earnestly supported the budget proposal than Representative Lucian W Parrish of the Thirteenth district and he is confident that as a result of this measure great economies will be effected Discussing the need for and the operation of the budget system Mr Parrish said

'The purpose and intention of the legislation creating the budget is to put efficiency in the management of government business and economy in all government expenditures I can conceive of no more important legislation at this time and I know of no reform that is more necessary than that which has for its purpose the assurance of more rigid economy in all government expenditures Henceforth the great and absorbing issue before the American people will be that of the expenditure of public money The man who aspires to public leadership hereafter must give an account to his constituents of how he has expended or will expend the people's money

Haphazard Appropriations

'For many years congress has appropriated money for the support of the various departments of government in a more or less haphazard way and without any well defined plans or co-operative consideration by the various committees of congress of the total expenditures to be made Under such a system the several dparments have prepared their own book of estimates which has been forwarded to the committee of the house the duty of which it was to appropriate for that particular department or branch of government In this way a number of house and senate committees without any direct understanding with each other have been recommending appropriations to congress for the support of the respective departments for which they were appropriating and no strict or uniform policy has been followed In many instances the department heads have sought to expand their respective departments and have generally asked for the maximum amount they hoped to receive thus public expenditures have been constantly growing larger and larger until now conservative men are sick at heart at the situation in which we find ourselves and the American people are demanding that expenditures be curtailed and that the tax burdens be speedily and materially reduced

I am not one of those who believe that all of the money that has been spent by the government has been wasted—far from it—for such demagoguery as that has a bad effect when it comes from a member of congress or from any other public official or responsible person and has a distinct tendency to discredit those public officials who have sought to serve the people patriotically and unselfishly but there is no denying the fact that there has been a too constant increase in the money appropriated annually for the support of the government

Comparison of Expenses.

"A comparison of our per capita expenses since 1850 is illuminating in this regard The expenses per capita in 1850 were $1 77 in 1860, $2 01 in 1870 $7 61 in 1880, $5 08, in 1890 $4 75 in 1900 $6 39, in 1910 $7 30, and in 1920, $57 72 It will thus be seen that we spent per capita in 1920 more than thirty-two times as much as we spent in the year 1850, and the tragic part of it all is that we are running in a vicious circle to which there seems to be no end and which is ever increasing the amount of our annual expenditures An examination of the annual appropriations in recent years discloses that a very small per cent probably not as much as ten per cent has been used for the constructive civil expenses of the government, and the other ninety per cent has been used on this side of the ledger to which is charged past, present and future war expenditures

'The backs of the American people are now bending beneath the burdens of taxation Approximately $5 500 000 000 00 were appropriated for the year ending June 30 1920 for the year ending June 30 1921 $4 "80 000 000 00 were appropriated and the appropriations already made for the fiscal year ending June 30 1922 calls for expenditures of $4 014 000 000 00 and to these the army and navy bills as they now stand will add eight hundred million more There seems to be no escape from an appropriation for the next fiscal year of approximately $5 000 000 000 00

Prospect Is Gloomy.

'Considering these annual expenditures in connection with the national debt amounting at this time to $23 995 564 "6 47 and the prospect for immediate relief from the burdens of taxation is gloomy in the extreme No one can face these figures without realizing that something must be done and that radical reduction in public expenditures has already become a vital and living issue before the American people There must be rigid economy and taxes must be reduced The military and naval programs are the cause of the greatest expenditures and I certainly trust that the president of the United States will speedily call a conference of the leading nations of the world that some arrangement will be made which will cause a reduction in the money that is now being spent for the support of the army and navy

'There could be no accomplishment more conducive to the peace and welfare of our people

"The establishment of the budget legislation will have the effect at least of vitalizing before the appropriating bodies the total expenditures to be made at any given time The director of the budget under this law must submit the total expenditures proposed under one general plan and along with it will be submitted the possible revenues necessary to meet the budget for any given year In other words the appropriating committee will have before it a specific itemization of the amount of money required and also the ways and means of raising the necessary revenue and that result will tend strongly to encourage efficiency and economy

Required to Audit

Then too the accounting department provided for in this law under the controller general will be required to audit very carefully all expenditures after the money has once been appropriated and this will insure that the money will be spent for the purpose for which congress intended and it will be the duty of the controller general to advise congress promptly wherein appropriations have not been spent according to the wishes of congress Under the present system congress has been making appropriations and the money turned over to the various departments of the government, and unless expensive investigations were ordered congress did not know whether the money had been expended according to its wishes or not but under the controller general this evil will be met and careful audits will be made Undoubtedly the budget will result in a great saving of public money and in reducing appropriations

I have felt so earnestly about this matter that when the budget bill came before the house last year I supported it and when the president vetoed it and it came back later for passage over his veto I voted to override the president's veto in order that we might make sure that the budget would go into effect as quickly as possible I saw nothing then in the president's veto that would justify me in voting against the bill and nothing has come to my mind since that that has changed my views in this regard and I say this with all due respect to the president in whose judgment I have always placed great confidence We are facing a fact and not a theory Great problems are waiting at our hands for solution and each of us are charged with responsibility of facing these problems and each is responsible to his own people for the manner in which he solves them and I for one will always vote for what I believe to be the best interests of the people whom I represent It is only in this way that I can contribute to the successful solution of the difficulties now confronting us

RICH COAL DISTRICT LOCKED IN AN INDUSTRIAL STRUGGLE

WILLIAMSON W VA May 14—The battle in the mountains of Mingo county along the Tug river which has raged for several days fierce as it has been is merely a phase of a greater struggle in which this rich coal district is locked—the industrial struggle over the question of unionizing or keeping open the mines

And that greater struggle is being waged with every known weapon

Union miners of lockout strike as the leaders describe it are evicted from homes owned by the coal companies to settle nearby on leased land in tent colonies No longer able to trade at the company commissaries at the various mining towns they subsist on rations shipped in by the international union

Deprived of funds as a result of being out of work they draw benefits from the international union

Propaganda is being circulated by both sides each blaming the other for disorder Acrimonious statements and charges are launched by supporters of both factions Threats and rumors of threats are discussed in virtually all gatherings Men who have followed the situation profess to regard it as the most serious that has arisen since the trouble began not excepting the Matewan shooting last May 19 in which 10 were slain

The operators are firm in their determination to keep the field open at any cost The United Mine Workers are equally determined in their insistence that the struggle go on until their union is recognized The questions of wages and working conditions also enter into the disagreement but these admittedly are minor considerations

David Robb international financial agent of the United Mine Workers who is directing union activities in this district made public today the first statement he has issued since the industrial warfare flared up again

The lockout strike in this field can never be settled by thugs and gunmen declared Mr Robb asserting that the battle which started Thursday had been brought about by attacks on union miners by nonunion men now employed in the field

High Percentage Americans

A high percentage of the men now out are Americans native of this district and they do not propose to be driven from their homes Anyone who knows the mountaineer temperament knows that they won't be intimidated and that they will not allow their women and children to be made into targets I have been besieged with requests from union men for money with which to buy arms and ammunition These requests I have, of course, ignored and have counselled the men to moderation but I know that many of them will go right ahead firing back when their homes, or the tent colonies to which they have been reduced by eviction proceedings are fired upon'

According to Mr Robb, there are about 2 500 men still on 'lockout strike in the district most of whose places have been taken by nonunion workers from other parts of the country

He declared that the coal operators had proved their insincerity and unwillingness to settle the disturbance peacefully on many occasions during the last year but said that the union still was ready to negotiate He asserted the union viewed the proposed sending of federal troops with complacency and added that it would welcome a congressional investigation of the situation to determine where the wrong and right lay

Officials of the West Virginia Coal Operators association on the other hand contradicted every assertion Mr Robb made from the question as to which side started the present fighting to that of the number of miners and their families now living in tent colonies which Mr Robb fixed at 3 500 men women and children The operators representatives declared that at the present time the mine owners have more employes than can be used and that coal production in the field is 60 per cent of normal They reiterated the statement of the association that mines would be kept 'open'

FRENCH JAZZ SWEEPING NEW YORK CITY

Paris Sends Counter-Peptant to America

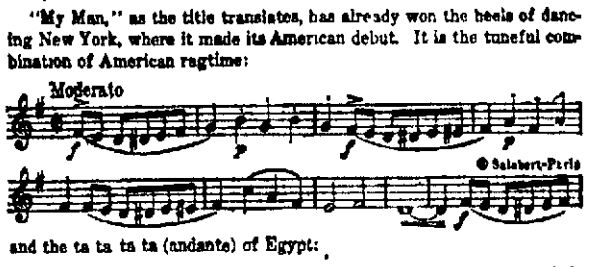
France to the rescue!

Heroes, perfumes, frills, war brides and invigorating beverages—it is for these that the land of Lafayette has in the past claimed American gratitude. But the greatest of these in the days preceding our great Volsteadian disaster was the last item.

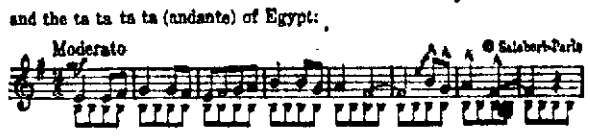
When these latter days of Prohibition made the influx of cordials, wines and champagnes from the sunny land of grapes impossible, France mourned for the bereaved of this country.

And it is as a matter of compensation—a counter peptant as it were—that she has sent us her latest invigorator, the first specimen of French Jazz, "Mon Homme."

"My Man," as the title translates, has already won the heels of dancing New York, where it made its American debut. It is the tuneful combination of American ragtime:



and the ta ta ta ta (andante) of Egypt:



With its various wiggles and shoulder shaking diversities, it is a continuous shimmy from head to toe, although it is officially described as an Apache Fox-Trot.

As a song it voices the pride of possession that thrills a French girl nowadays—since the war created a scarcity of men—in the more or less exclusive companionship of a male person

Discreetly expurgated, the words in English express this in the refrain,

"Everybody envies me when they see me with my man."

"Mon Homme" marks the first effort of any foreign country to manufacture its own syncopated music. Heretofore America has been the sole exporter, with customers in every corner of the earth, from the court of Siam at Bangkok to the land of the midnight sun, where the only music heard is 'canned white man,'' as American phonograph records are known.

UNITED STATES OBJECTS TO MARCONI WIRELESS AWARD

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The award by the Peruvian government of a concession to the Marconi wireless telegraph company of London, for operation of the Peruvian wireless, postal and telegraphic services, for a period of 25 years, has been made the basis for representations by the American government.

The American communication has not been made public and state department officials declined today to discuss its contents. It was learned, however, that it was not in form of a protest.

The concession granted the Marconi company dates from last May 1 and followed negotiations extending over a period of more than a year. First reports received here indicated that the agreement was virtually a monopoly in form, but later advices to the state department were said to have shown that it would not interfere with the business of the all-American cable company in Peru or between that country and United States.

AIR MAIL SERVICE IS THREE YEARS OLD

Cover 1,313,379 Miles the Past Year—Nineteen Aviators Are Killed.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The air mail service will be three years old tomorrow.

In a statement tonight commenting upon the service the postoffice department said that during the past year it covered 1,313,379 miles and carried 1,015,852 pounds of mail at a cost of operation, with April estimated, at $1,242,182. The average cost per mile, it was added, was $1.92.

There were 19 fatalities in the year, almost twice as many as for the first two years. "This to a certain extent was due," the statement said, "to the greater hazard of operating the transcontinental route which was established during the year. For the first two years the service was confined almost entirely to the Washington and New York route.

"Seven of the fatalities," it was added, "were due to defective mechanism of a certain type of plane which has been discarded, six of the fatalities occurred while not carrying the mail either on the field or in ferrying ship to various points.

"During the past year," the statement said, "the service had an average performance of 78 per cent of trips completed and 85 per cent of miles completed. Its best general monthly average performance was 95 per cent in July 1920. It had a general average performance of 90 per cent of trips completed during April, 1921 when the very worst weather of the year prevailed."

The routes now in operation are the transcontinental from New York to San Francisco by way of Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno, a route from Chicago to Minneapolis, another from Chicago to St. Louis and one from Washington to New York."

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks—Grain and Provisions—Cotton—Livestock

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, May 14—Except around opening when prices were 3 points higher to one lower on supporting orders in July, the cotton market was generally under pressure throughout the forenoon and at the close was barely steady, at a net decline of 5 to 11 points. Early purchases of July by brokers supposed to be acting for Japanese interests aggregated 10,000 bales and furnished about the only features in the market. This buying was supplied mainly by the south while later in the day Wall street offerings became liberal and were mainly responsible for the heaviness which occurred near the close. News was about evenly divided as to big Fall River sales of print cloths, estimated at 200,000 pieces for the week, and the outlook for cooler weather over the belt when dry, warm conditions are needed, were practically offset by the labor unrest in England, and the less favorable turn to European political conditions.

May sold as low as 12.28, July to 12.68 and October to 13.25, or about 13 to 17 points under the highest of the morning.

Week-end statistics were considered bearish and census bureau figures on consumption of cotton by domestic mills, aggregating 406,882 bales during April, were disappointing in view of recent private estimates and the March consumption of 437,953 bales.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, May 14—Grain traders influenced by passage of the Tincher bill by the national house and the prospects of restrictive legislation in Illinois drove at the entire list of prices on the board of trade today. But when wheat reached a point 6c under yesterday's high figures, export buyers poured orders into the pit and practically all losses were recovered in the final fifteen minutes of the session. May wheat closed at yesterday's final of $1.43¾ to $1.43¾, and the rest of the list was only fractionally lower.

Sentiment that the effect of the Tincher bill would be to restrict trading and result in lower prices was the chief factor in the wheat pit.

Corn and oats were generally in tune with wheat, but the former met some support on seaboard demand that served to narrow price fluctuations. Country offerings increased.

Provisions, after a fairly firm start, eased off in sympathy with grain and hogs.

Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, May 14—The market for coffee futures was firmer today owing to Wall street buying and confidence established by the progress of Brazilian negotiations for a loan of $25,000,000. The open was 3 to 8 points higher and on subsequent buying July was carried up to 6.02, September to 6.40 and December to 6.55 with the close practically at the best point of the day and 11 to 13 points above the previous night's close. Closing bids: May, 5.71; July, 6.01, September, 6.39, October, 6.55, December, 6.57, January, 6.97, March, 7.17.

LIVESTOCK.

Fort Worth Livestock.

FORT WORTH, May 14.—Livestock receipts today were small, around 21 head of cattle, 650 hogs and 250 sheep representing the aggregate. However, there were several cars of cattle that failed to find an outlet yesterday. The market conditions were quotably unchanged, the trade being about in keeping with the usual Saturday performance. Hogs sold fully steady.

Some steers brought $8.75 and the top on hogs was $8.15. No choice hogs were available.

For the week best steers advanced 10c to 15c and heifers are 25c higher. Choice yearlings gained 25c. Common to medium steers look 10c to 15c lower and common yearlings declined 25c. Calves are 50c to 75c lower. Hogs gained 10c to 15c and pigs are 25c off. Choice wethers are 25c to 35c higher and goats have gained 25c. Ewes declined 25c and genuine lambs are $1 to $1.50 lower. Sheep—Receipts, 800. For week: 35c to 50c higher; lambs around 75c higher; spring lambs fully $1 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 14—The two-hour session of the stock market today was enlivened by further pressure from the short interests, that faction dominating dealings in the absence of more than tentative support.

Selling once more converged around oils, motors, steels and shippings, with liberal sprinkling of permanent specialties.

Sumatra Tobacco recovered a small part of its recent continuous reversal and a few of the rails resisted pressure; but, in the main, transportations gave way with the general list, in which extreme losses extended from one to nearly five points. Sales amounted to 350,000 shares.

Trading in bonds was light and narrow, popular domestic and international issues, including the liberty groups, showing only nominal changes. Total sales, par value, $4,375,000.

An actual contraction of about $106,500,000 in loans and discounts, the largest of any week this year, was the outstanding feature of the clearing house statement.

KRUGER'S SHRINE WINDOW ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION

The Kruger Jewelry company has had a window during the week that attracted much attention and favorable comment, especially by the members of the Mystic Shrine. The window is a desert scene with a complete setting of the interior of a Shrine lodge with wax figures for the officers clothed in proper regalia. The names of the officers of Maskat temple are given the figures on cards attached, and these especially bring forth a smile as the friends of the officers view them.

What Gives Owners Such Faith in Essex?
The people who know Essex rely on it chiefly, for the simple reason they have never encountered a situation of which it was not master.
More than by any other factor men have been guided in their preference for the Essex by the endurance and reliability which unmistakably sets it apart from other light cars.
Yet the confidence of Essex owners that their car will go anywhere, with a possibility of trouble so remote that it does not even enter into calculations, contains something more than a feeling of absolute assurance in its mechanical reliability.
No car could possess a more sincere belief in its goodness, its every-day dependability, and its capacity to do the task assigned without fret and fuss, than that which 50,000 owners bestow upon the Essex.

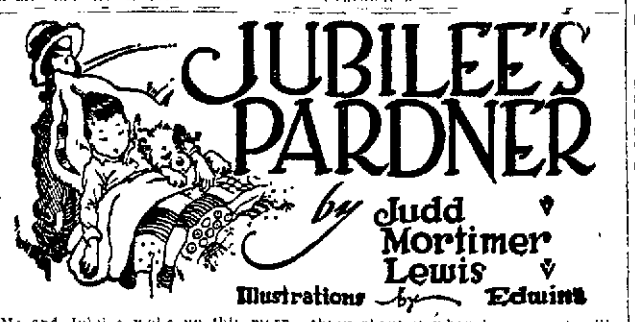
Benediction



Me and Jubilee woke up this morning before daylight and it was very hillish and one of my legs was sticking out through the hole in the quilt so I got out of bed and went out in the atti and opened the door that goes out on the roof so that the smoke could go out that way and then I got a match out of my pants and lit the hay I had put in the stove

As soon as I touched her off she began to rore and fire come out of the back of the stove and the wind was blowing in the little door by the roof so that it blowed all the smoke back past the front of the stove and got my room full of it and the stove was so hot I could not lift it out on the roof and I was almost crazy for fear my father would hear it roar Then all of a sudden the hay was all burnt up and the fire went out and I snuck in and let Jubilee down by his rope and I put on my short pants and went down and got the pail to go out to milk the cow and her dotter I left the door open and I was milking and looking out between the cow and her tail at the house when I heard my aht holler Lucy and she come running out in the yard carrying her bed clothes and in her night dress and then my mother run out with Annabell Lee and my grandfather come running out with his fishpole and I run out in the yard and there was smoke coming out of the windows kinda slow and I run in and come running out with the sugar bole and the castor oil bottle

Then my father come to the door and told us all to come in He said he had been all over the house and there was not any fire and we all went in and there was a lot of smoke in the house and he said it was a mystery to him, and he asted me if I knew anything about it and my mother butted in and said How could that child know anything about it when he was out milking when it all happened and I said That is nothing mother I got blamed for everything

As soon as my father had went to work me and Jubilee skun out and got the lunch and went out to the slippery slicks but we did not go in because

I run out in the yard and there was some smoke coming out of the windows kinda slow

it is too cold But we found and et some red and green Halloween and got chased by a feller that was bigger than us till we met up to some girls and then we chased him back again and then we went to see Banty

Banty is not so lucky to have to stay in bed on Saturday But he will not have to go to Sunday school and give a cent to the heathen I guess he is lucky all right

Alamo Mothers to Organize General Council This Week

A meeting of mothers from all of the local parent teacher circles has been called for this week by the Alamo Mothers council looking to the organization of a general Wichita Falls council of Mothers. The day of the week has not been set but will be announced later.

The general council for the city is an organization toward which many of the mothers in the local councils scattered over the city have been looking forward for some months and it is believed that the federation will strengthen and assist the auxiliary councils very materially.

To Share Profits

A feature which paved the way for the organization of the general council was the holding of the first annual children's matinee last Friday, the proceeds of which, being used to share with other local mothers' clubs. Different plans were suggested for organization of a general council finally being decided on as the most feasible and acceptable all around giving the other local mothers' clubs a chance to carry out ideas with regard to the annual matinee and to share the responsibility.

The matinee will be continued throughout the summer under the direction of the executive board of the general council when organization is completed and the proceeds will be shared by each of the seven auxiliary school organizations—the High school, Junior High, Alamo, Austin, Travis, Sam Houston and Sam Jacinto.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

Jenny opens a white crepe frock down the center to display a slip of silk in the newest shade favored in Paris a golden buttercup yellow. The neck is outlined with two rows of yellow silk braid crossed with black threads but the girdle is white. An attractive girdle like this may be made of heavily knotted silk cord and may be used to give added chic to more than one frock.

And speaking of girdles these are a really important feature of the summer frock. They may be made of jewelled metals and cut steel silk cord or beads but always the girdle can be counted on as an opportunity for a decorative touch to a simple dress.

PATTERN NO 162

A pattern for the above model (No 162) can be obtained in sizes 34 36 38 or 40 by sending to Lenore 8 West Fortieth street, New York City your name and address number of this pattern and the size required and 25 cents in postage stamps. The banquet was served at noon, Rev Dr Knickerbocker opening the ceremonies by returning thanks and Judge Scurry taking charge of the informal and most enjoyable program. Talks were made by Major Wilson of Electra, Senator Gwynne Williams of Decatur, Judge P. A. Martin and Judge Scurry. MOVEMENT STARTED FOR COLISEUM HERE BY LOCAL STOCKMEN

MEETING SATURDAY SETS PLANS ON FOOT FOR BUILDING FOR EXHIBITS AND ROUND-UP.

WOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR MANY CIVIC PURPOSES

Matter to be Considered Further When Chamber of Commerce Directors Meet Tuesday.

At a meeting of leading stockmen of Wichita and Archer counties Saturday morning at the chamber of commerce, plans were set on foot for the building of a coliseum here, to be used for livestock exhibits, round-ups and public gatherings.

The plans are expected to take more definite form Tuesday morning, when the matter will be submitted to the chamber of commerce directors. A committee consisting of Messrs. W. C. Young, J. C. Dycus, Merle Waggoner, George Keith, George Elliott and W. F. Weeks was named to present the matter to the directorate. W. F. Weeks presided at Saturday's meeting.

Tom Burnett, J. B. Marlow and others interested in round-ups and similar undertakings, will be invited to the meeting Thursday. A number of representative stock raisers of Wichita, Archer and Clay counties will also be invited.

As discussed and approved Saturday morning, it is intended to provide a coliseum where live stock exhibits and sales can be had, and which would also be available for round ups, athletic events, and public meetings. While intended primarily for use in stimulating the raising of better livestock in this section, its other uses would make it a civic adjunct of great value.

It developed at the meeting that the matter has already received considerable attention and that sites have been offered by individuals who are willing to take stock in the undertaking as part payment for their land. The opinion was expressed that the matter could be handled on a basis where it would be attractive to the general public, and that the financing of the proposition would be less difficult for that reason.

MUCH ATTENTION GIVEN TO YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK IN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION

An unusual amount of time in the Texas Christian Missionary convention conducted in Wichita Falls from May 9 to 13, held at the First Christian church, was given to the young people's work. The speakers taking an active part in this department of the work came from all parts of the country, including many of state and national reputation.

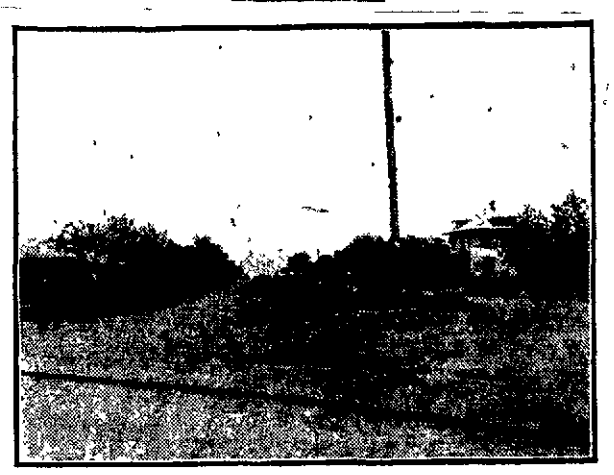
Among them were Mrs. D. C. Mangum of Dallas, Miss Pearle Leonard of Fort Worth, H. B. Brouse of Fort Worth formerly of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Berta McMasters of Fort Worth, Rev. P. F. Herndon of Taylor, Texas, S. W. Hutton of Fort Worth, Dean Colby D. Hall of T. C. U. Fort Worth. Bert Wilson of St. Louis had charge of most of the devotional services. Many of these leaders have a wide reputation as speakers and teachers.

There were many others on the program giving inspiring addresses and talks not mentioned herein. Wednesday was devoted largely to the Bible school, mission studies, Christian Endeavor work and other activities of the young people, some of the sessions taking up other time in the convention.

At 8 p. m. Wednesday was held the Christian Endeavor session with Dean Colby D. Hall, dean of Texas Christian university, presiding and who has been a lifelong worker in Christian Endeavor. Short talks were made by S. W. Hutton, Miss Pearle Leonard and Jack Huppertz, state field C. E. secretary. A wonderful address was given by Rev. P. F. Herndon of Taylor on "Christian Endeavor Pastors' Aid." This was considered one of the strongest addresses of the convention.

One great fact brought out was that only four per cent of the people doing real active work in the church today came into the church after they passed their 24th year, thus showing the importance and necessity of winning souls for Christ while they are young.

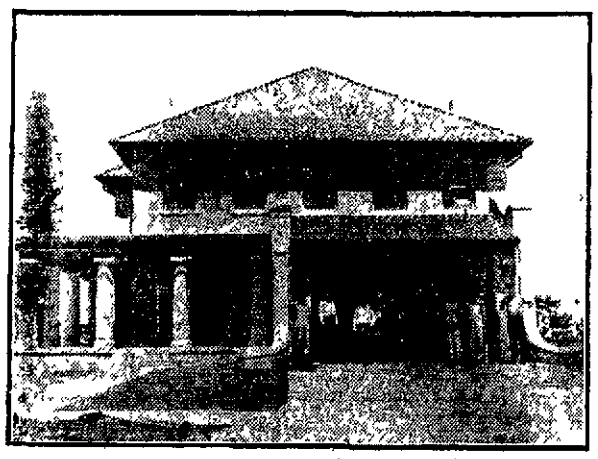
NINTH STREET'S CENTER PARKWAY PLAN IS PRETTILY DEVELOPED



The possibilities of the central parkway as a beauty spot are being developed on the western end of Ninth street, where the above picture was taken. Instead of paving the street for its full width, space for a park strip is left in the center, and such strips have recently been the scene of activity by the city's park bureau, which has planned shrubbery and otherwise beautified the little tracts.

The same scheme is to be followed as the Ninth street paving is extended eastward, to give approximately a mile of parkway paving. It is expected that this plan will be followed on other streets that are wide enough to permit its development.

NEW FIRE STATION COMBINES BOTH USEFULNESS AND BEAUTY



"There's the funniest house out on Buchanan street. It has a garage on the ground floor," said a woman visitor in Wichita Falls recently.

The city's new fire station, to which the visitor was refering, looks much more like somebody's well-planned residence than like a fire station. The time when a fire station has to look like a barn is passed—and Wichita Falls has in the construction of her three newest stations combined usefulness with civic attractiveness to a marked degree, the Buchanan street station is no exception to the rule. Situated in the heart of one of the city's finest residential districts, it detracts nothing and, on the contrary, adds charm and dignity to the section.

When the doors are closed, it requires more than a casual glance to discover that the structure is not a residence. It is substantially and roomily built with commodious and comfortable quarters for the firemen and for Fire Chief McClure, who now makes his headquarters there.

Correction in Advertisement.

In the advertisement of the Southern Tire and Vulcanizing company, in regard to Firestone distributors which appeared in this paper on Friday, the name of the firm was given as Southwestern Tire and Vulcanizing company, which was incorrect. Mr. H. A. Dodson, manager of the Southern Tire and Vulcanizing company, has had several calls as to whether he has changed the name of his firm. The Times regrets very much the error.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR COMING WEEK

Motion Pictures

"LOVE-FLOWER" HEADLINES EXCEPTIONAL PROGRAM AT MAJESTIC THIS WEEK

Cecil B. DeMille's "Something to Think About," in which Monte Blue, Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Theodore Roberts and Clair McDowell are starred, heads the week's amusement bill at the Majestic. This production, while in no sense a melodrama, has several thrilling scenes that are calculated to give the fellows of the crowd heart failure. The picture has appeared here before and won a wide following among local amusement fans.

This picture comes on Monday only. Tuesday brings one of Bill Hart's best western productions, "The Testing Block," in which the star has a vehicle of merit. This is also a second run picture, but is sure to have a large following.

The real headliner of the week comes on Wednesday and Thursday when D. W. Griffith's "The Love Flower" is offered as the main attraction. This picture is one of Griffith's masterpieces, and while not as pretentious nor as large as "Way Down East," "The Birth of a Nation," and others of his mammoth productions, it is fully as interesting.

The scenes are laid in some far off islands of the Caribean sea, where a man falsely accused of murder hides from the search of a famous detective who has devoted his life to capturing the accused one. The victim's daughter lives with him and finally through her daring swimming and diving the detective is driven from the island and her father saved. An absorbing romance is woven into the play, and a strong cast headed by Richard Barthelmess lends excellent support.

A western and several comedies close the week on Friday and Saturday.

"THE LEOPARD WOMAN" AND "LYING LIPS" TO BE FEATURES AT THE STRAND

Five hundred American sailors, the entire crew of the little cruiser Minneapolis, in fact are used as extras in the big associated producers spectacular film, "Lying Lips," which comes to the Strand for the last three days of this week and which serves as the feature attraction of the six day program.

This picture has its main settings on the sea, and all the thrills which are usually found in a marine production—and then some more thrown in for good measure—are included in "Lying Lips," which was directed by Thomas H. Ince. The story is something of a melodrama, but has but little of the sensational scenes which have caused much adverse criticism from blue law advocates.

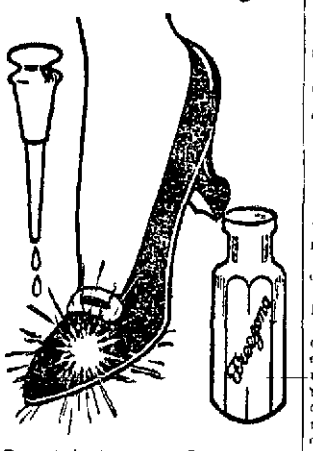
Florence Vidor and House Peters, supported by a strong cast of lesser lights, are included in the film and give a fine representation of dramatic art under the able direction of Ince.

Louise Glaum in "The Leopard Woman," a Lois Weber-Paramount production, has the center of the stage on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This picture is of the usual dramatic type in which Miss Glaum is found, and for those who enjoy the type of picture in which she plays it is highly recommended.

* William Farnum and his wife have arrived secretly in Paris and intend to stay for about four months. Farnum has announced his returning to the stage in New York shortly after the termination of his contract with William Fox, in whose pictures he has been starring.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers



Doesn't hurt a bit. Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the callouses without soreness or irritation.—adv.

AT THE EMPRESS THIS WEEK

CONWAY TEARLE in "BUCKING THE TIGER" A Selznick Picture

"I AM GUILTY" AND "BUCKING THE TIGER" ARE OFFERINGS AT EMPRESS

Louise Glaum, Conway Tearle and Constance Binney form a trio of stars who will offer the large part of this week's movie bill at the Empress, all appearing in their latest productions.

Miss Glaum comes on Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "I Am Guilty," a J. Parker Read production which uses social life as its background. How a forsaken wife, formerly a chorus girl, goes for one more fling at good times when her rich husband leaves town and how she becomes implicated in a murder in the home of a gangster crowd is graphically portrayed before the camera. Many difficulties are thrown in her way before she finally is cleared, and the ending shows everyone happily united again, of course.

"Bucking the Tiger" is a drama of wild life in the arctic regions and centers around a human lottery in which the life of a man is to be taken in the interests of a get-rich-quick scheme. Conway Tearle plays the part of the intended victim, and of course plenty of thrilling scenes take place before the ending is made to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Saturday brings Constance Binney in "Something Different," a picture said to be just what its name implies.

"HOLD YOUR HORSES" TO START WEEK'S PROGRAM OF GEM ATTRACTIONS

Tom Moore, popular Irish star now playing with the Goldwyn company, starts out the week's program at the Gem in one of his older pictures, "Hold Your Horses." He appears as an Irish immigrant week-kneed and trembling, who is a target for his wife's pots and pans and who is afraid to even say "skat" to a big dog. One day he is run over by an automobile owned by a wealthy society girl and goes to the hospital for six weeks.

On his release he joins a blasting gang and is given a red flag with which to block traffic from the road which he does. This taste of authority makes a new man of him, and in a short time he becomes the political boss of the city, later marrying the woman who ran over him after his wife and her husband had conveniently died.

Tuesday brings Dorothy Dalton in "Passion Fruit," a swiftly moving story of the tropics, and on Wednesday Enid Bennett in "The Talk Back," a one day stand.

"The Blushing Bride" comes Thursday and Friday, brings Houdini in "The Terror Island," one of his best pictures and one which is replete with thrills.

"TOO WISE WIVES" AND "A TALE OF TWO WORLDS" ARE OLYMPIC ATTRACTIONS

"Too Wise Wives," a Lois Weber-Paramount production, is to be the main attraction for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the Olympic, according to announcements of week by the Dix, Ford and Rodgers company.

The amusement critic of "Life" has characterized the picture as a splendid failure, giving it credit for having used fine scenic effects, good photography and a strong cast with a meritorious story having little or no plot. The main theme revolves around the actions of a pining and suspicious wife, who gets herself and her husband into all kinds of trouble by her excessive curiosity. In the end of course everything is fixed up in lovely shape, but not until some lively mixups occur.

For the final three days of the week Governeur Morris' latest story, "A Tale of Two Worlds," will be the main attraction, with a big supporting bill of comedies, news reels and westerns.

STOCK AND VAUDEVILLE TO BE PRESENTED AT PALACE WITH EXCEPTIONAL BILL

An innovation in theatricals will be introduced in this city Monday when the Palace theatre is opened up with a full line of stock shows, vaudeville and pictures at prices but slightly higher than those charged for the best movies. Never before has Wichita Falls had a bill which will include all the features of high class entertainment that the new Palace programs will offer, according to H. B. Seeman, who is to manage the theatre, and it is his belief that the new policy will prove exceedingly popular to amusement fans of the city.

The main attraction for the opening performance will be the Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hopkins players in the big New York stage success, "The Brat." A vaudeville act and a Vitagraph special, "The Heart of Maryland," starring Catherine Calvert, will be the supporting numbers.

"The Brat" has won for itself the distinction of being one of the best stage plays ever written, it having run for months without interruption on Broadway and is still proving a big drawing card with the stock companies of the country. It is the story of a metropolitan street girl who gets into one of the most exclusive families and is made one of the circle. How she accomplishes this forms an absorbing tale filled with heart interest and also with a liberal portion of comedy.

As played by the Monroe Hopkins players it is exceptionally delightful.

"The Heart of Maryland" is a Tom Terris production made by the same company and same director that was responsible for "Dead Men Tell No Tales," and is said to be a fine portrayal of life in Maryland during the dark days of the Civil war. Miss Calvert heads a strong supporting cast.

MONROE HOPKINS AT THE PALACE THIS WEEK

AT THE OLYMPIC THREE DAYS THIS WEEK

Louis Calhern and Claire Windsor in a scene from the Lois Weber Production "Too Wise Wives" A Paramount Picture

Reel Chatter

By JEAN DARNELL

Doris Pawn has been confined to her home for more than a week with a severe case of bronchitis.

Mary Pickford will shortly start work on her next picture, "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Charles Murray and Pen Turpin are both back on the Sennett lot after trips to the East. Murray is to appear with Mabel Normand in "Mollie O," while Turpin is starting work on a series of two reelers.

Elliott Dexter has left for New York, taking the trip via the Panama Canal. He will remain in the vicinity of Broadway for three days making the return trip on the same boat.

New York and vicinity are anxiously awaiting the premier of the Wm. Fox production, "The Queen of Sheba." It is said to be one of the real big pictures of the year.

Eileen Sedgewick, the Universal serial star, has gone into retirement for several weeks to have an operation for appendicitis performed.

Allen Dwan is in Hawaii—it is said he will produce his next picture there.

Now Mrs. Wallace Reid is appearing in pictures using her husbands name in the billing.

Doris May, who left for the East with the Maurice Tourneur company for the making of "Bright Lights," is to be married on her return to the coast. Wallace Macdonald is reported to be the lucky man.

Tom Moore, his director, Victor Schertzinger and the Goldwyn company making "Beating the Game," an original screen story by Charles Kenyon, are busy filming scenes in a small town which has been erected on the Goldwyn lot at Culver City. Last week the company shot picnic scenes in the Santa Monica Canyon.

Twenty years ago, when Herbert Brenon was a call boy and went from dressing room to dressing-room to let the players know when the act was on, Charles Richman was playing the lead in "The Great Ruby." Night after night Brenon used to watch Richman from the wings and fired with ambition he would say to himself, "Who knows? Someday I too may earn my living by being a great actor, like Mr. Richman." Today Herbert Brenon is directing Mr. Richman in Norma Talmadge's next picture, "The Sign on the Door," with a film version of Channing Pollock's well known play.

Rupert Hughes is not only a Golwyn eminent author but an accomplished musician as well. He showed his versatility by playing the tremendously difficult score to his dramatic song "Lain" before the Camut club, Los Angeles, recently.

Beatrice Joy—Lon Chaney and John Lowers and other members of the Goldwyn company have been at Pine Crest, California on location—shooting scenes for "Ace of Hearts," a big Goldwyn production.

Limo Lincoln is to appear in a Universal serial based on the exploits of Tarzan of the Apes.

Louis Glaum is to take a house at Catalina Island's for the summer and trips to the studio will be made via airplane.

HE STARTED AS A STREET CLEANER—HE ENDED AS A POLITICAL BOSS OF NEW YORK.

TOM MOORE —IN— "HOLD YOUR HORSES."

A character you'll never forget in a picture 100% comedy.

MOVIE MUSIC HAS ADVANCED ALONG WITH OTHER SCREEN BETTERMENTS SINCE OLD AUTOMATIC PIANO DAYS

By H. F. JOHNSON

The wonderful advance made during the past ten years by the movie picture interests has furnished one of the most sensational chapters of American industrial life for from an inauspicious beginning where the picture places of the country consisted mainly of a vacant room over the bay and feed emporium to the million dollar structures we now have is certainly a record to be classed with the big business' advancement of the steel industry and other concerns whose operations involve millions and millions of dollars yearly.

How many of you plump stall fed dads who have accumulated a goodly share of this world's loot have deposited a nickel with a hard boiled blacksmith behind a small window where there was no danger of your being able to hit him if he got sassy, ambled through a narrow doorway and stumbled down a creaky isle to a backless bench there to sit speechless while three reels of blurred and flickering scenery depicting bloodthirsty battles with Indians were unfolded on a bed sheet at the front end of the room. And the music that accompanied those productions. Remember it? The soothing symphonies of cow bells, wash tubs and tin horns which the two-fingered female Paderewski of the village extracted from a dilapidated piano wasn't it great?

And then the pictures themselves what enlightening, uplifting and educational affairs they were. In those days a film wouldn't pass the Board of censor unless at least six men were bumped off in the opening scene and if the final fade out didn't show the villain hanging by his ears and the beautiful heroine fleeing over the hill on horseback the gang on the front row was liable to shoot up the whole joint. And in those days too the shows could operate on Sunday occasionally. The houses only opened when they could get a picture which made it rather hard on press agents and such so the clergy couldn't advance the argument that they had six other days a week in which to aid the devil in getting in his dirty work. So of course when a picture arrived it just naturally had to be run and run it was in and out of the old hand power projector that squeaked in every joint with never an intermission except to change reels which generally took ten minutes and never a change of picture for such things as news reels, topics of the day and comedies of the 'higher' type were as familiar as Mars in those days.

Compare then the houses and pictures of 1910 with the ones we have now. It's a far cry from the corner Nickelodeon with its creaky floors and backless seats to the magnificent palaces in which the cinema dramas of the present are presented and its a still farther cry from the tinpan piano of yesterday to the symphony orchestras used in the playhouse of Chicago, New York and even smaller cities today. The weekly expense account for music in a modern theatre would have been sufficient to buy out the whole block in which the forerunners of the movie industry were located and there would still be enough left over to give the kids Sunday school money.

Wichita Falls has not yet grown enough to sport a full fledged orchestra in an exclusive movie house but it is getting there and some day such an attraction will be offered. Patrons of the silent drama are fortunate however in having something almost as good namely competent organists on man sized instruments and in some cases these serve the purpose fully as well as would the full orchestra.

What part the music of a photoplay has in putting it over and just how this is done is told in an article late written by Lyson Carlisle, organist of the Olympic theatre.

How odd it is to look back only a few years to the days of the dim lit Nickelodeon and if any music at all a screetching phonograph or an electric piano. Then look today at the magnificent structures representing enormous expenditures, everything man's mind can conceive to add to the patrons convenience and comfort and while he views the product of the master minds of a new art the photoplay there comes to his ears the harmonious strains of a mighty pipe organ.

"Getting down to the subject on which I have been asked to write fitting music to a photoplay the same thing governs it that is the paramount idea from the beginning to end of presenting a photoplay program harmony. Other than this there is no set rule for playing a musical accompaniment to a picture. Practically all the picture companies supply a cue sheet with each picture. The musician experienced in playing pictures would be of the opinion that all that was necessary would be to select the numbers the cue sheet calls for and play them accordingly. The result of such an attempt would be the continual stopping and starting of different numbers that would strike the audience with about the same abruptness as being slapped in the face.

Also it is unlikely that a musical program selected for an audience in one locality will please that of another. However the cue sheets do give one a general idea of the nature of the picture he is to play and oftentimes a private screening of the picture permits the organist to figure the situations out in advance but even with this he cannot lay the music out before him and change from one number to another and always make his music harmonious with the picture. I do not mean by this that music cannot be arranged to fit a picture for this has been done. For instance the famous 'Birth of a Nation' score is but about one half of what was composed especially to fit the situations. What one must have is an almost unlimited number of pieces that will express every human emotion and fit any incident that might be portrayed in his mind known by heart and be able to improvise anything at a second's notice. People come to a theatre to see a photoplay, the music alone draws very few; the picture without the musical accompaniment is very dry indeed, but even this is better than to have an accompaniment not in harmony with it. Along this line I always work. When one thing is so in harmony with another that it is scarcely noticeable it is pleasing and this is what I strive for in my music. Music is the frame and the light ground a picture. Its purpose is to make the picture more effective to aid in driving home its messages.

The big Wurlitzer Hope-Jones organ which we have in the Olympic is especially well adapted to the playing of pictures and no end of effects can be gotten out of it. Besides the organ itself one has everything from a lone flute to a full symphony orchestra at his finger tips."

Epworth League, First M. E. Church. Seventh and Lamar. Thirty-two years ago the Epworth League was founded by the uniting of six different Methodist Young People's organizations and the meeting this evening at 6:45 o'clock is to be in the nature of an anniversary celebration of the birth of the league. A special anniversary program number has been prepared and all former leaguers either here or from other chapters are requested to be present to hear the story of the growth of this organization throughout the world and to hear the evening sermon on "Who is responsible for the loss of 65,000 girls in the United States last year."

Practical Joker Lands in City Jail "Faked" Shooting

An alleged practical joke on the police department, perpetrated Friday night, turned out to be a little more serious than one of the jokers bargained for and officials at the city hall were undecided Saturday morning as to what disposition should be made of the case other than preferring charges of drunkenness and reckless driving for which a man was arrested in connection with his funny stunt earlier in the evening.

A breathless and dishevelled individual appeared at the police station shortly after dark and reported that two men had shot each other on the banks of the river. An investigation developed that the two had fired some shots into the air and had then faked serious injuries for the benefit of a fisherman who promptly departed for the police station.

One of the men was found later in the evening by detective Jack Miller. He was alleged to have been intoxicated and to have been driving reckless through the city streets so was taken to jail and locked up for the night.

Police were making microscopic examinations of the statute books Saturday in an effort to determine what charges could be filed against him.

A visit is cordially welcomed at the City National Bank of Commerce and every effort is made to assure their feeling at home. The bank's building is one of the finest in the Wichita Falls district and is one of the show places of the city. It was erected in accordance with the bank's plan of giving its customers the best in banking facilities and service. 2-11t

PERSHING EXPECTED TO PREPARE FOR WAR IN TIME OF PEACE

FACES TASK OF PLANNING WAR TIME FORCE OF TWO AND HALF MILLION

STANDING ARMY WILL BE SKELETONIZED DIVISIONS

Greatest Potential Strength Will Lie in the Organized Reserves, It Is Declared.

By A. L. BRADFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 14—The task of planning a war time army of approximately 2,500,000 men today faced General John J. Pershing the newly appointed chief of staff.

In naming Pershing chief of staff Secretary of War Weeks made it plain that the principal duty of the world war commander will be in time of peace to prepare the United States army for war. Major General James B. Harboard named executive assistant to Pershing will carry out the administrative functions of the staff chief.

The present plans of the war department to prepare the army for war it was learned today are to put the military establishment on a basis wherein the first mobilization after a declaration of war, 2,500,000 men can be put immediately under arms.

As the perfection of this huge military machine progresses new plans probably will be evolved by the war department to cover further mobilizations, possibly up to the maximum of America's military man power estimated by the war department as between 16,000,000 and 18,000,000. If provisions were ever made for a war time army of 16,000,000 or 18,000,000 men this would be an unheard of military achievement.

The war army with which General Pershing will soon begin work will not have a standing strength of 2,500,000 men but its permanent strength probably would be less than half that number. The standing war army will consist of skeletonized divisions. This force of probably a little over 1,000,000 men however will consist of highly trained officers and men forming a nucleus upon which an immediate expansion to 2,500,000 men can be carried out in the first mobilization for war, by draft, enlistments or whatever method is decided on.

The greatest potential strength in this war army will lie in the organized reserves which are planned to have a wartime strength of approximately 450,000 and 500,000 men respectively, the war department estimates.

SAYS DUTCH GOVERNMENT WILL DO WHATEVER THE ROYAL DUTCH CO. WISHES

THE HAGUE, May 14—Decisions of the Dutch government relative to oil rights in the Djambi oil fields in the East Indies are severely censured by One influential weekly newspaper Haagsche Post which expresses surprise that the minister of colonies has not resigned.

The Dutch government the newspaper declares will do what the Royal Dutch Oil company wishes because the company is very powerful and many are of the opinion that Holland is governed by it. Many facts are known in well informed circles which if published would ruin the reputation of various influential Dutchmen. The Dutch oil policy smells very bad especially during recent weeks when the American note relative to the Djambi oil field was kept secret from parliament.

The City National Bank of Commerce invites the banking business of Wichita Falls people and business institutions in the confidence that it can handle this business as they want it handled. 2 1tc

WE DELIVER

Do You Know This?

THOMAS A. EDISON spent three million dollars to develop a reproducing instrument which would give perfect music of all kinds and which through its supreme realism could confer upon every home the incalculable benefits of pure and good music exactly as rendered by the world's best artists.

Duplicates of this original three million dollar instrument are now on sale at $295.00.

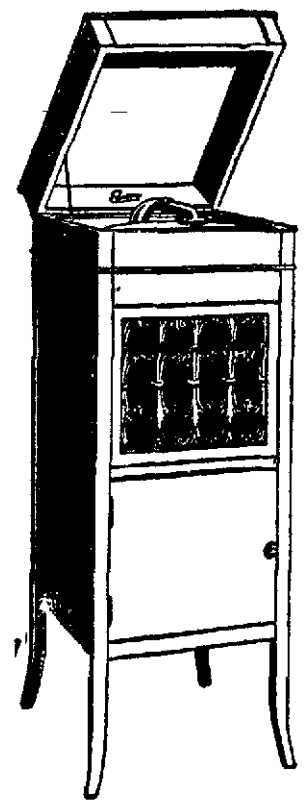
Many people seem to believe that Mr. Edison's great invention can be obtained only in the Official Laboratory Model. We are therefore glad to be able to announce that there is a skillful adaptation of the Official Laboratory Model encased in a charming Heppelwhite cabinet which can be purchased for



HEPPELWHITE

Described by Miss Elsie de Wolfe as a "characteristically diminutive and graceful Heppelwhite" designed with particular reference to the requirements of city apartment dwellers but perfectly appropriate to the large mansions. Grille reproduces Heppelwhite's historic Prince of Wales feathers with a treatment which gives the feeling of time mellowed hand carvings. Genuine mahogany or genuine quarter-sawed oak.

$167.50
A Real Edison

We have no hesitation in stating that this Heppelwhite model of the New Edison is vastly superior to any and all talking machines at any and all prices. We are prepared to submit the Heppelwhite to scientific comparison for proof of our assertion you and your friends to be the judges.

Hundreds of thousands of people believe that $295 is not too much to pay for the Official Laboratory Model which embodies all of Mr. Edison's three million dollar research. Many there pay more than $295 for it in special French and Italian cases or inlaid and hand decorated English cabinet. However there may be some who are not yet ready to purchase the Official Laboratory Model. To them we say: Don't delay don't deny yourselves the pleasure and benefits of Mr. Edison's great work. Buy a Heppelwhite now and later trade it in on an Official Laboratory Model.

Special Offer

We have set aside a limited number of these charming Heppelwhites. We shall be glad to prove to your satisfaction that they are far superior to any talking machine at any price. Take one of these beautiful Heppelwhites at $167.50 with the understanding that at any time within one year from the date of purchase you can if you desire to do so return the Heppelwhite and receive credit on the purchase of an Official Laboratory Model for the full amount paid by you for your Heppelwhite. There are absolutely no strings on this special offer. It is a part of our co-operation with Mr. Edison to put real music in every home particularly those homes where there are young people whose natures are now molding and who above all others require the improving and ennobling influence of the wonderful music which Edison has placed within the reach of every one.

We are able to make this special offer because there will be no reduction in the prices of Edison instruments. Edison has raised his prices less than 15 per cent since 1914. Don't wait. Come before this special allotment of Heppelwhites is gone. Come at once.

Special terms this month only. $12.50 cash—$12.50 per month.

CAMPAIGN TO DRIVE EXPENSES BACK HAS BEGUN IN EARNEST

LITTLE HOPE FOR MATERIAL REDUCTION IN TAX BURDENS NOW

MUST PLUG THE LEAKS IN EVERY DAY OPERATION

President Places Special Emphasis on Proposed Economy Program, It Is Said

WASHINGTON May 14—The Harding administration's drive to force its household expenses back to normalcy is in full swing today.

Steps taken thus far in the economy campaign which is just starting according to administration officials are:

1—Instructions to cabinet members that they must stop the practice of overstepping congressional appropriations and turning in deficiency requests to cover the excesses.

2—Appointment of Walter F. Brown to represent the president in mapping out a reorganization of executive departments on an economy basis.

3—Ordering of a survey of wasteful practices in leasing private buildings for government use.

A careful study of the financial condition of the government by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has failed to give much hope of material reductions in tax burdens except as leaks in the every day operation of government industrial machinery can be plugged and for this reason the new administration is laying especially heavy emphasis on the economy program.

The investigation of waste in leasing of private buildings grew out of discoveries made by Postmaster General Hays who believes that millions of dollars are being unnecessarily expended in this way. In many cities federal officers and branch offices of the government commissions are occupying elaborate suites in high rental office buildings where more modest but ample accommodations could be had.

FAMOUS MORSE ELM REMOVED FROM STREET OF THE CAPITAL CITY

WASHINGTON May 14—The famous Morse elm at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fourteenth street, one of the oldest landmarks in the national capital is gone. It was removed at midnight after a long but losing fight for its life which began when Fourteenth street was widened some years ago.

This tree has looked down upon every inaugural parade held in Washington. It was named for Samuel F. B. Morse inventor of the telegraph who tradition relates often sat beneath it and recited to interested listeners the wonders of the telegraph. In the old days many famous politicians would gather in its shade to discuss affairs of party and state.

The trunk of the tree has been presented to the American Forestry association. The elm was one of the first trees to be given a place by this association in the Hall of Fame of Trees with a history.

BERLIN May 14—Allegations of high treason are made in proceedings instituted by the ministry of defense against the newspaper Rohte Fahne (Red Flag) as the result of a publication by that paper of a series of documents bearing on the situation in Silesia. AUTOMOBILE TIRE PRICES BELOW PRE-WAR LEVEL WITH BIGGER GUARANTEES

Automobile tire prices are now not only below the pre war level but most manufacturers are guaranteeing their tires for nearly double the mileage guaranteed in 1913 so that a dollar spent for tires today will carry your tire at least twice as many miles as a dollar would in 1913

These facts are brought out in a statement issued by the B F Goodrich Rubber Co which was the first of the big tire manufacturing companies to announce recent important reductions in tire prices

It is rather startling says this statement to find that in 1919 tire prices were 115 per cent higher than today The lowest point in the history of tire prices was in 1917 and was brought about by the Goodrich Company's Fair List campaign when a drastic reduction was made for the purpose of eliminating the price inflation which had crept into the industry This extreme low point was only 20 per cent below present schedules

Any discussion of tire prices however is incomplete unless comparative values are considered The question is How many miles do I get from my tires today? And how does this compare with what I received in 1913? Beginning with 1915 and the war standardization movement which extended over a period of several years tremendous strides have been made in quality and in the mileage service of tires The extent to which this is true is not realized by the motoring public Yet this increase in service is actually measurable In the first place consider the actual increase in size For instance, cord tires made by the leading companies are uniformly 10 per cent over the rated size Specialization in the production and preparation of raw materials has been of incalculable benefit to tire quality Remarkable progress has been made in the art of compounding rubber to produce the maximum degree of wear These salient factors have been supplemented by improved methods of manufacture which have resulted in a uniformity of quality and service absolutely unknown a few years ago A tangible expression of the greater mileage service now being built into tires is reflected by the higher basis of adjustment used by the leading companies Thus if a tire proves defective today it is adjusted, under the Goodrich plan on the basis of 6 000 miles if it is of fabric and 8 000 miles if it is of cord construction Contrast this with the adjustment basis in use a few years ago, i e, 3 500 miles and it is easy to comprehend the great progress made in tire manufacture

It is not a far fetched conclusion to say that tires today give from 50 per cent to 100 per cent greater mileage than they did a few years ago Therefore if the tire companies were selling mileage today at the 1915 price level tires would actually cost from 50 to 25 more than at present The conclusion is obvious therefore that based on comparative service tires cost less today than ever before

The rubber industry is to be complimented on its rapid progress toward normal Leaders of the industry frankly state that the recent price readjustment is not warranted by their actual factory production costs but that it represents an earnest effort to meet the wishes of the administration and the general public in the establishment of lower price levels on which all classes of trade can unite and transact business

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: I have an Oldsmobile Model 37 and had new pistons, new pins and a new set of rings installed, and it still pumps oil and smokes terrible After running a few miles it seems to go lame in high and will not pull very well in second on a little hill Have examined rings thoroughly for defects but seem to be o k. What can be the matter and what remedy would you advise? J. C

Undoubtedly the cylinders are out of true in which case new rings and pistons will not overcome your trouble The proper way to overcome such trouble is to have the cylinders rebored and new pistons and rings fitted to the rebored cylinders In this way you obtain a first class job in which all the parts are true and properly fitted

Motor Department: Do shock absorbers do any good or harm to a car? If they are good, what is the best make for use on a light car? S. I.

Shock absorbers are good when properly designed It is not possible to recommend any particular make through the columns of this paper but would suggest that you ask the maker of your car which type he recommends Undoubtedly the manufacturer has tested several types and he is better able to tell you which type is best suited to your particular car

Motor Department: Recently my motor seems to overheat It runs all right when I start but after three or four miles the radiator steams and the motor gradually stops I can crank again and go a short distance, but it soon stops and I must wait until it cools. There appears to be a good water circulation Can you tell me the causes of the trouble? M H.

There must be an obstruction in the circulating system or the radiator is partially clogged Sometimes the water pump impeller will slip on the shaft and retard circulation instead of accelerating it If the inner walls of hose connections will cut off free circulation A loose fan belt is another cause of trouble A retarded spark or overrich carburetor mixture or valves cut or burned badly carbonized cylinders are other causes of the same evil If you suspect a clogged radiator make a strong solution of washing soda and let it stay in the cooling system for a day Usually about two and one half pounds of washing soda in hot water and pour into the cooling system As soon as usual all day then drain and flush the system thoroughly before filling with clean fresh water

Motor Department: Being a reader of your Problems will you give me some information. My top has a hole in it (Mohair top). What will I use to make a patch stay on? Is tailor tape put on with a hot iron all right? Can I put a dressing on top after using same? E S

Mohair tops are difficult to repair and clean It is very doubtful whether the tape will stick for any length of time However there is no harm trying Small repairs are quite often made by inserting a patch and darning About the only way to clean a mohair top is to brush thoroughly then sponge with clean water and pure soap

Motor Department: Can you tell me cause of trouble? About one year ago in Franklin 6 cylinder, plugs No. 3 and 5 began missing and had to be cleaned every few miles. Was advised to have engine rewired, no relief. Valves ground and cylinders cleaned, no relief. To have cylinders rebored, new valves, new rings, this relieved No. 5 and for a few days No. 3, but now No. 3 must be cleaned once or twice daily, sometimes found corroded, sometimes with fresh oil. I neglected to say the mechanic put in what he called strainer in carburetor, which seemed to do some good. The engine base or crank case is constantly filled with gasoline, which is a constant annoyance. V. A.

See that valves are properly adjusted for clearance when the engine is hot Also that each cylinder has good compression Would further suggest that you try some new spark plugs If the cylinders were rebored and new pistons and rings properly fitted there should not be so much trouble from gasoline in the crank case unless you are running with an overrich mixture a great deal of the time Why not discontinue the strainer in the carburetor for a time and note results? Gasoline in the crank case thins the oil and prevents proper lubrication of the bearings, etc. Furthermore this impoverished oil works past the pistons into the combustion chamber more readily than it should and causes ignition trouble Also check up carburetion system including proper functioning of vacuum tank if any

Motor Department: I have a Dodge car, 1919 model In driving down grade not releasing the clutch, cut off most all gas can hear grinding sound. Seems as if gears have been stripped, although pulls as good as ever. Can you tell me what this is and how I could prevent it? Any information appreciated. L. C.

In coasting down hill with the engine throttled and clutch engaged the momentum of the car is checked more or less by the resistance of the engine in other words the engine acts as a brake This action reverses the thrust on bearings etc, between the engine and rear wheels If the bearings are worn at various points you will experience a grinding noise This is quite often observed in the differential assembly Of course the noise travels forward through the metal and is difficult to locate from the seat Would suggest that you take up the floor boards and have a good mechanic try to locate the source of trouble while you operate the car

Motor Department: One of my side lights flickers badly whenever the car is jolted or whenever I shake the bracket. Is this a broken wire or a short circuit? S. P.

Remove the wire and see that it is properly fastened to its plug in the lamp Then see that the lamp bracket is properly fastened More than likely it is only a loose connection Your ammeter would indicate a short circuit and the fuse controlling that section would blow

Motor Department: I have a Saxon four with a Ward-Leonard generator and self-starter. When I go fifteen miles per hour it gives as high as ten amperes, but when going twenty-five miles it only gives around seven or eight. Is this proper? If not, please tell me what to do. F. E.

Your system is operating properly If the amperage increased in proportion to the speed of the engine it would damage the battery All systems have some means of regulating the current so as not to charge the battery above a certain rate

Motor Department: I own a new six cylinder car, which has been driven 3,000 miles. I have watched it pretty carefully. Recently I have been troubled a great deal by carbon. I cleaned the engine and ground the valves but shortly thereafter had more trouble. Upon close investigation I discovered the fifth cylinder was fouling and missing. So far I have been unable to discover a remedy for this. Can you help me. J. P.

Undoubtedly the piston rings in that cylinder are not a close fit Possibly the cylinder is scored or cut of round An oversize piston and rings may overcome the trouble

Motor Department: How may I find out if my muffler is clogged? My engine has not been developing much power recently, but nothing else seems to be out of order. I am told that my muffler may be clogged, but I do not know how to find out if it is or not. K. G.

If you have a muffler cut-out try car on a hill If car speeds up when muffler is cut out and slows down when cut in the muffler is clogged If you have no cut-out the muffler must be removed and taken apart for cleaning If any holes are clogged ream them out with a three cornered file

HELPFUL HINTS.

On Ford cars you can locate the missing cylinder before leaving the seat Hold down one vibrator at a time and listen to the running of the engine If the engine slows down it is a live cylinder If it makes no change that vibrator corresponds to the dead cylinder

A motor that is subject to considerable vibration is liable to have its cylinders work loose on the crankcase through the loosing of the holding-down bolts or nuts if they are not watched A wrench should be applied occasionally to make sure that everything is tight. The trouble that arises from loose cylinders runs all the way from leakage of oil to a wrecked engine

An engine should not be permitted to labor, even if it can be kept going When running very slowly the sudden blows of the explosion acting against the resistance of the slow-moving crank shaft set up tremendous stresses that are as dangerous as they are unnecessary

The dirt collected on the outside of the engine is not merely an eyesore It gets into the bearings and causes loss of power and wear This shortens the life of the engine If the dirt is removed regularly this wear is prevented, and the car will last longer

When looking for a knock in the motor do not overlook the possibility of motor being loose in the frame The knock from this cause is not noticeable when motor is running idle but appears when suddenly accelerating and climbing a hill

—or any other motor car.

The qualities that make motor car value are fixed.

The Hupmobile, like any other car, can be put out of commission by accident. Otherwise, it keeps on going every day in the year. That's one requirement of value.

Another is low repair costs. (Our opinion is that Hupmobile repair costs are lower than those of any other car in the world.)

If a car is known to be well-built, long-lived, a good performer, and consistently economical, it will always bring a high price when resold.

It is common knowledge that the Hupmobile has a record in this respect so remarkable that at least it is not surpassed by any other car in the market.

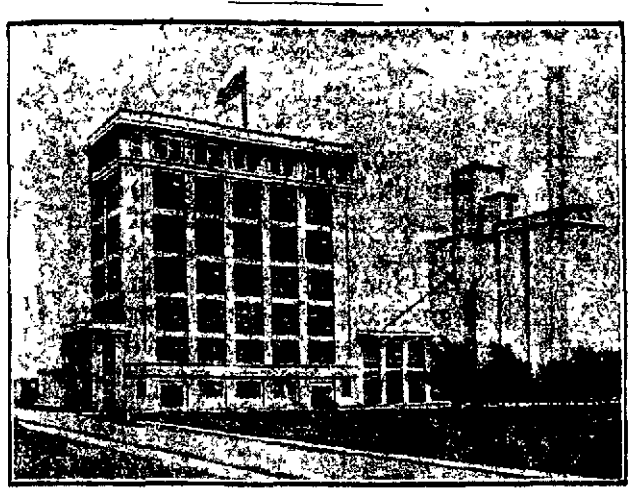
KELL MILL AT VERNON KEEPS "OPEN HOUSE" AND HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE INSPECT MODERN PLANT



VERNON, TEXAS, May 14.—Hundreds of citizens visited the local Kell Milling company's new plant this week on the day provided by the management for an open house. The plant which is considered one of the finest in the southwest is equipped throughout with labor saving machinery that cuts down amazingly the number of persons required for such a plant. Total cost operations are handled mechanically and furthermore so accomplished far more effectively than could be possible by human hands.

There is a labyrinth of pipes on every floor metal tubing that emits a hiss and rattle and it forms part of the material the big giant as it were in the incessant warfare against dust and filth. In fact, there is as much machinery in the cleaning department of the local establishment as in the ordinary mill.

The wheat to be ground is brought from the elevator in long conveyors and immediately enters upon a long and intricate journey. It first goes through a tempering process that washes the wheat stores it for 24 hours sends it over a magnetic separator that removes all tacks, nails and foreign matter, a scour machine that takes out the dust and in all it is wet and is cleaned five times. Not matter scales weigh every bushel of wheat. Dust collectors take the heat, refuse and and it scurrying down to where the feed is made.

The building housing all of this wonderful equipment and efficiency is itself a remarkable structure. Everything is strictly fireproof, solidly constructed from concrete and steel. This however has not precluded the taking of all additional precautions in order to forestall all possibility of fire and there are extinguishers at every hand. Huge metal doors are so constructed that a certain amount of heat will cause them to automatically close thus confining any blaze to one room.

Every floor is finished in a different style but each is strictly fireproof, efficiently ventilated and light as day. And everywhere is the same absence of dust, the same spotlessness that would put one of a child who had just had his face soundly scrubbed. Speaking tubes and signalling devices offer means of quick communication for the workmen. At a signal from any floor the giant engines can be stopped instantly. To afford rapid travel from floor to floor there is a new stop freight elevator upon which each passenger catches a ride as the lift platforms pass by and in their rise story after story or lowered swiftly from floor to floor. A safety device on seventh floor prevents an absent minded passenger from serious injury in the event he forgets to alight. The mill is equipped with an elaborate

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

Speeding shortens the life of tires because the faster the speed the more heat there is generated.

Glowing carbon or soot in the cylinder head will cause the engine to knock.

The license plate should be properly lighted at night so that it can be easily seen.

Radiator compounds should be used only temporarily and as sparingly as possible.

Be careful in turning corners as the injuring or knocking down of a pedestrian would cause more delay than the slowing down with perhaps fines imprisonment or both. It is wisest to take your time.

Keeping the springs lubricated not only prevents squeaking but makes the car ride easier.

Probably the greatest source of battery trouble and short life results from not keeping the plates covered by the addition of pure distilled water.

A good safeguard against delays on the road occasioned by tire trouble is to carry in the car a quantity of tightly woven cloth. This can be used successfully for blowout patches.

At fixed intervals open the drain cock at the bottom of the vacuum tank so as to release any foreign matter which may have accumulated there. This will prevent carburetor trouble.

One source of insufficient lubrication of bearings is some times found to be clogged grooves in the bushings which are intended to carry the lubricating oil and cut off the supply. An excess of graphite will also often produce the same effect.

When parking a car on a grade it is well to use additional precaution besides setting the brakes. Place the gears in first instead of neutral as the resistance of the motor will hold the car back. The front wheels should also be turned into the curb.

Many motorists overlook the rim which if allowed to rust can cause a tire to deteriorate about as quickly as any other way. A very good way to avoid this trouble is to keep your rim covered with regular rim paint.

Before tackling a repair that means plenty of real dirty work smear your hands with vaseline. It will prevent the skin becoming ingrained with dirt and will make cleaning up quite a simple matter.

A cork drilled lengthwise through the center makes a good plug for a broken gasoline pipe on a motor cycle. The two broken ends of the pipe are stuck into opposite ends of the cork.

Oil drained from the engine and gear compartment should be filtered and used over again for oiling spring leaves and brake connections.

Ice cream freezers and water coolers the stock, asking prices. Belding & Lynn, 811 Scott. 342 21tc

S. A. L. MORGAN IS LUNCHEON SPEAKER BEFORE SHRINE CLUB

[illegible] government is great except as reflected [illegible] its people and [illegible] time great [illegible] government to do for them what they might to do for themselves said S A L Morgan of this city at the Saturday before the weekly luncheon Mr Morgan's talk was based on the Government and the Government in Business

While it cannot be expected that the same methods that are used in private business can be applied to a cumbersome business like the government a national campaign work to that end Mr Morgan said Shamefully and misguided public opinion pointed out sometimes held the efforts of those who sought to handle governmental business in an efficient way

The remedy Mr Morgan said is in a public sentiment that is educated to stand behind its officials and look to them for results

Mr Morgan spoke of the danger of governmental interference in business saying it tended to deprive the individual business man of ambition and initiative The government's function in business he contended is to preserve competition but not to enter into the details of business management

FARMERS PLEASED WITH SUCCESS OF THEIR FIRST MARKET

Truck farmers in the vicinity are not only satisfied but enthusiastic over the results of their attempt at a public market here All who participated in the opening day's market disposed of all their supplies, at prices measurably higher than those hitherto received when they disposed of their produce to middlemen instead of to the customer

There are about 40 truck raisers in the recently formed organization and nearly half of these had produce for sale Saturday morning Not all sent their own wagons, some combining with neighbors to make up a full load Later when more produce is available it is expected that a greater number of farmers will participate

The next market will be held Tuesday morning starting at 7 00 o clock and every alternate day thereafter Sundays excepted

CATTLEMEN FAVOR LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT

Plans For Coliseum Expected to Result in Holding of Shows Annually or Oftener.

Annual or semi-annual livestock exhibits and sales in Wichita Falls will be held, if plans formulated Saturday morning at the meeting of stockmen of this and neighboring counties are materialized The erection of a coliseum for the staging of such exhibits will be one of the first steps taken to hold these exhibits

In connection with the plans W C Young of Archer City told what resulted from the recent exhibit and sale in that place

"We had no idea it would bring so many exhibitors he said That part of it was a pleasant surprise to everybody As soon as it was over nearly every man who took part in it was making plans to improve his herd to buy new bulls to get better stock and to build up his business generally There's no doubt in my mind that the little exhibit we had has been a tremendous benefit to Archer county

The exhibits and sales constitute but one use to which the proposed coliseum will be put and it is probable that at the chamber of commerce directors meeting Tuesday some plan will be considered whereby a structure suitable for staging the annual roundup can be erected Mr Burnett has already indicated a willingness to co operate with Wichita Falls citizens in establishing a permanent roundup site

Cordial and friendly helpfulness is is the goal for which the City National Bank of Commerce strives The bank works with and for its customers whatever the nature or the volume of the business they entrust to it 2 1tc
